PLANE MAY FAIL AS GOAL NEARS

John D. Jr. Pays Biggest Tax

CURRENT COMMENT
By Walter H. Rowell

for the expansion of air portation, at first sight, empt from the chief of the f land transportation. Ou e heaviest cost is for right- road bed and terminals. ds provide these things lves; automobiles have them provided by the public. Either way, we pay for them, in rates or taxes. The air, by contrast is free.

But as soon as you begin navigating the air systematically, you find that much of the cost is on the ground. Landing fields need to be larger than railroad terminals, with a rew in each, and night flight, without which the saving in useful time s more than cut in two, requires laborate lighting signals all along h way. In effect, a transcontinen- al air line requires a very expen- ive land roadbed and upkeep.

INCE air transportation, for some time, will have to be subsi- zed, and since American politics equires that subsidies be called some other name, the high land osts of flying may furnish the op- ortunity to do both.

Our habit of thinking with our mories will also help. We re- mber that the government has ays maintained navigable reams and harbors and support- d lighthouses, for water craft, nd it will therefore require no w thought, but only memory, to e idea of doing the same or aircraft.

call the landing fields "har- nd the signal stations nses," and the whole thing within our familiar categor- re may be no objection to essary subsidies, if we will m by their names.

nd gasoline are cheaper. ereupon everybody but the ers of oil stocks rejoices. e are those who argue that ld all be better off if the gasoline were permanent- as high. Engines could be which would give twice the to the gallon, so the "gas" r mile would be the same. only reason it is not done s that such engines would more, and at present prices cheaper to waste gasoline. er prices, therefore, would e the use of only half the ent output of gasoline, for the e mileage. The saving of crude would be even greater.

EFINERS could then afford to "crack" nearly twice as much soline from each barrel of oil. quarter of the present oil con- mption would mean as many nofor miles. Less of the oil would go for ordinary fuel, in place of coal. Thus, present motorists would lose nothing, and the visible oil supply would last three or four times as long.

This is one of the most pressing if conservation problems. There will, to be sure, be oil and oil pro- ducts at some price for at least this generation and the next. But, the end of cheap oil is in sight. Conservation now would double or treble the time.

The more oil we waste now, for cheap uses, the more it will cost later, for necessary uses.

ONE incidental use of the new im- provements should be the bet- ter teaching of languages. Lan- guage records, to be sure, have long been available, and have doubtless served a certain purpose. But so long as there were sounds that had to be guessed at in one's own language, it was useless to learn them by this method in any other language. Now, if the enun- ciation is to be perfect it will be easy to practice being a actor as it now is to read

The living teacher will be always a tap. And that may at last make languages living in this hith- erto "monoglottic" country.

FORD MOTOR IS LARGEST CORPORATION

Fortunes of Rockefeller And Automobile Manufacturer Supreme in Land

Picture Folk Obliged to Contribute Liberally to Coffers of Uncle Sam

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The Rockefeller and Ford fortunes still stand supreme in the United States.

John D. Rockefeller jr., paid the greatest individual income tax for 1924 and the Ford Motor company the largest tax of any corporation, the income tax records, which were opened to the public today, showed.

Rockefeller jr., paid the government $6,27[illegible]69, while the Ford Motor company paid $16,493,160.

Many of the large tax payments showed a noticeable decrease. Henry Ford paid $2,608,806, a decrease of more than $600,000 from his 1923 tax, while the Rockefeller jr. tax was approximately a million dollars less than for 1923.

Edsel Pays Two Millions

Edsel Ford paid a tax of $2,155,055, so that the Ford family paid a total of $5,448,649—nearly as much as the Rockefellers.

President Coolidge's tax was $14,091, which was dwarfed by the payments of members of his official family—such as $1,882,609, paid by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. Vice President Dawes paid $24,834.

The United States Steel corporation paid $11,005,219, but that huge payment was five million dollars less than paid for 1923. The Consolidated Gas company paid $3,681,818, the Standard Oil of New York $2,335,436; the Union Pacific railroad, $3,530,755, and the Western Union Telegraph company, $1,494,301; the General Electric company, $7,245,900.

Woolworth Tax Enormous

The F. W. Woolworth company, which makes its money from nickels and dimes, paid $2,636,943.

Douglas Fairbanks proved the biggest taxpayer of the movie world, paying $183,190.45, while Gloria Swanson led the feminine stars, paying $57,075.23.

Profits from Coca Cola yielded Walter Candler, of Atlanta, Ga., an income taxed for $4,491.95, and William Candler $2348. Other members of the Coca Cola family had non-taxable returns.

J. P. Morgan paid $574,379.55.

J. S. Senator T. Coleman Dupont, $181,164.49.

Chief Justice William Howard Taft, of the supreme court, $1723.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson $349.14.

John Barton Payne, head of the American Red Cross, $15.

E. J. Gould, $2,768.70.

James Montgomery Flagg, $1362.22.

Estate of Charles F. Murphy, former Tammy chieftain, $717.59.

Max D. Steuer, attorney, $198,455.00.

Simon Guggenheim, copper magnate, $231.52.

Costs Gary $322,680

Elbert H. Gary, of the U. S. Steel corporation, $322,680.

Estate of John Jacob Astor, $7001.39.

Otto Kahn, banker, $391,776.

The Fleischmann company, yeast manufacturers, $1,330,166.71.

National Biscuit company, $2,041807.26.

New York Life Insurance company, $1,523,283.

Thomas W. Lamont jr., financier, $480,747.

James Stillman Rockefeller, banker, $5178.

William A. Rockefeller, $3401.

Waldorf Astor, $70,201.

James A. Stillman, $52,458.38.

Delaware and Lackawanna railroad, $2,000,856.

Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, $1284.77.

Clarence Dillon, broker, $37,634.

Payne Whitney, $1,676,626.

Coolidge Pays Income Tax Of $14,091.86

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—President Coolidge paid a federal income tax of $14,091.86 for the year 1924, according to figures made public here today.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Vice President Charles G. Dawes paid a tax of $24,834.73 on his 1924 income.

COOLIDGE NOT FAVORABLE TO TAX PUBLICITY

(By United Press)

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Sept. 1.—The publicity clause of the income tax law, under which the taxes paid by citizens were made public today, interferes with the collection of revenue, in the opinion of President Coolidge.

The president is unchanged in his attitude of strong opposition to this tax publicity, it was made clear at the summer White House.

Mr. Coolidge recommended repeal of the publicity clause in his message to congress last winter, and he probably will renew his suggestion this winter.

The publicity, it was said, not only interfered with the collection of revenue, but it actually tended to decrease it, the president has been informed.

OFFICER IN ARMY ADMITS SLAYING

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 1.—Dropping his plea of insanity, Lt. John S. Thompson, U. S. A., of Far Rockaway, L. I., today pleaded guilty before a court-martial to a charge of manslaughter for the killing here last April of 16-year-old Audrey Burleigh, beautiful society girl he loved.

The young West Pointer shot the girl to death as they rode in a taxi in the moonlight along Dewey boulevard.

Thompson's father is a Presbyterian minister, who at one time held a high position in the New York diocese.

28 ARE RESCUED AS STEAMER SINKS

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 1—The training ship By-Gar sprang a leak and sank near here today, but the 28 persons aboard were all removed to safety before the vessel went down. The detroit naval training vessel Dubuque docked shortly before 1 o'clock on its way south. An earlier report indicated it might have been the Dubuque which was in difficulty.

File Petition In Bankruptcy On 9 Chain Stores

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in federal court here today against Pacific Stores, Inc. Liabilities were listed at approximately $200,000. Pacific Stores, Inc., operate a chain of nine groceries in Southern California cities. Complainants represented eastern creditors.

828 ANTHRACITE MINES ARE IDLE AS BIG STRIKE BEGINS

Hard Coal Walkout Is 100 Per Cent, Union Headquarters Report

(By United Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1.—Save for a handful of maintenance workers, 828 mines in the 500 square miles of anthracite territory, upon which the hard coal supply of the United States largely depends, were deserted today, following completion of the walkout of 150,000 workers at midnight last night.

Word was received at union headquarters here that the strike was "100 per cent."

Today, the wage earners for at least half a million women and children began their first real vacation in two years and their sixth strike in 30 years.

There was little to mark anything unusual in the suspension. So carefully had plans been laid, that there was no disorder. The men put down their tools as they emerged from the mines at the end of their various shifts during the day and night and went quietly to their homes.

Woman, 65, Sings While Swimming 10-Mile Course

VENICE, Calif., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Anna Van Skike, 65-year-old aquatic marvel, completed her fifth annual swim of 10 miles off the Southern California coast.

Mrs. Van Skike, a former grand opera star, sang a medley of ballads as she skimmed gracefully over her course, three miles out at sea. She made the distance in exactly six hours.

"I feel like going another 10 miles," said the swimming songster after completing the course. "Next year I'm going to swim 15 miles."

Mrs. Van Skike came to Southern California five years ago to recuperate from tuberculosis.

Bandits Release Eight Missionaries

SHANGHAI, Sept. 1.—Eight British missionaries, captured by bandits August 6, in central China, have been released, according to a message today to the Church Missionary society from Chengtu.

(The bandits swooped down on the missionary group during a picnic. Later advices said the party was being treated well by their captors.)

Wants Beach Property By Paying Taxes

Edward Dillon, of Chicago, is willing to take some of Orange county's ocean frontage off its hands. Dillon takes especial pity on the Long Beach neighborhood.

In a magnanimous letter to County Clerk J. M. Backs, which arrived today, Dillon says:

Chicago, Aug. 26, 1925.

To County Clerk:

Please state if you have any land near Long Beach having ocean frontage; land that no taxes were paid for. I will pay taxes for same if it has ocean frontage.

Respectfully,
EDWARD DILLON,
201 S. Kilbourne Avenue,
Chicago, Ill.

Following is Backs' reply to Dillon:

"Just try and get it."

BABE REPENTS; TO MAKE PEACE WITH HUGGINS

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Babe Ruth, suspended from the New York Yankees for "unbecoming conduct," today repented his "sins" in the office of Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, and left Ruppert's office to "explain" to Miller Huggins, Yankee manager.

Ruth was lectured by Ruppert in the presence of newspapermen and then was told he "will have to settle it with Huggins."

Ruth answered that he was "always hot headed" and left Ruppert's office for the ball park to see the manager who disciplined him.

Asked whether he would apologize to Huggins, Ruth answered that he would "talk it over and explain to Huggins."

"You have always been the idol of the boys all through the country," Col. Ruppert told Ruth. "And now, think how they feel to hear scandal about you. It will break their hearts."

Ruth listened to the lecture soberly, keeping his eyes on the floor.

"I don't want to play for anyone but the Yanks," he told Colonel Ruppert when Ruppert emphasized that he would do nothing in the matter and that "it is up to you to fix it with Huggins."

When Ruth left, Ruppert predicted that the trouble could be "fixed up" and said he expected to see Ruth back in uniform in a few days.

Ruth and Mrs. Ruth both broke down and cried together just before Ruth left his apartment for Ruppert's office. This followed their denial that domestic troubles existed.

Mrs. Ruth, who is ill and under a physician's care, began to sob, whereupon the Babe gathered her in his arms and the two gave way to weeping for several minutes.

This afternoon Mrs. Ruth was reported in a state of hysterical collapse.

PRESIDENT TO SEEK LAW AS STRIKE CHECK

(By United Press)

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Sept. 1.—As the nation-wide anthracite coal strike got under way today, President Coolidge let it be known that he will ask congress for power to handle such situations in the future.

The President expects the country to weather the present strike without difficulty.

The President views as improper the conduct of Bert E. Haney, in refusing the President's request for his resignation from the U. S. shipping board.

The President expects Haney to realize the impropriety of staying on the board, which should carry out the President's policies and resign, it was authoritatively said at the summer White House today.

President Coolidge is not contemplating a trip to the Pacific coast in the near future. He has received several invitations, but he sees no opportunity to accept at the present time. Mr. Coolidge is ready to return to Washington any time after next Monday.

The summer White House today issued another denial of reports that Secretary of War John W. Weeks would be compelled to resign from the cabinet because of illness.

President Coolidge does not think Weeks intends to quit and he expects him back to his desk in Washington this fall.

FIRST U. S. WOMAN CONSUL IS NAMED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The first woman consul in the history of the United States was appointed by the state department today.

Miss Pattie Field, of Denver, Colo., graduated today with 16 men from the department's foreign service school and was assigned vice consul at Amsterdam, Holland.

Miss Lucille Atcherson, of Ohio, the only woman in the American diplomatic service, was appointed third secretary of legation at Berne, Switzerland, earlier this year.

LONE SURVIVOR OF FLIGHT REPORTS GAS SUPPLY LOW; SECOND SHIP FORCED DOWN

Engines Overheat When Oil Pressure Lines Snap and Craft Descends To Surface of Pacific

CRIPPLE SOON TAKEN IN TOW

(By United Press)

HONOLULU, T. H., Sept. 1.—The U. S. navy attempted non-stop flight to Hawaii may fail at the doorstep of achievement.

Com. John Rodgers, of the seaplane PN9-1, radioed the U. S. S. Tanager this afternoon as follows:

"Please keep good track of us. Gas about all gone. Think it impossible to get in."

The plane's position was not given.

The Tanager is 70 miles off Kahulia.

NAVY HEADQUARTERS, SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—Probability that the Hawaiian non-stop flight will end at the Destroyer Aroostook or Destroyer Tanager was indicated in an intercepted message picked up by naval radio here from Com. John S. Rodgers, commanding the PN9-1 plane.

"Running out of gas. Will probably have to land at Aroostook or Tanager. Please stand by," said his message, received at 2:10 p.m.

Receipt of this message followed ten minutes after a similar message sent out by Com. Rodgers, saying:

"Please keep good track. Gas is about all gone. Think it impossible to get in."

Both messages were broadcast by the commandant of the 14th Naval district at Honolulu, to all ships in the Pacific, with the added request that they keep the closest watch for the Hawaiian-bound plane.

If Com. Rodgers is forced down at the Aroostook he will have covered 1800 nautical miles and would be 300 miles from his goal at Pearl Harbor.

If his PN9-1 is able to keep in the air until he reaches the Tanager he will have covered 1950 miles of ocean in the span of his non-stop flight, and would be only 150 miles from the goal.

In either event, according to navy officials, the accomplishment of this much distance with a halt required only because of gasoline shortage, demonstrates the entire feasibility of the mainland-Hawaiian non-stop hop.

NAVY HEADQUARTERS, SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—The destroyer Farragut gave the PN9-1A compass bearing at 11 a. m., which placed the Hawaiian-bound ship midway between the Reno and the Farragut, about 1500 miles out of Santa Francisco, the navy radio reported here at 11:30 a. m.

The PN9-1 passed over the destroyer Reno, 1400 miles out, at 10:27, Pacific time, according to a dispatch picked up by the Radio Corporation of America, here.

The PN9-1, the only plane left in the running since its sister ship, the PN9-3, was forced down late yesterday, 300 miles off the Golden Gate, passed over the air tender Langley, 1200 nautical miles at sea, at 6:10 a. m., Pacific time.

Word from Commercial Ship

Advice to this effect was received at naval headquarters from the steamship Manoa, first commercial vessel to aid in "covering" the flight by radio.

The distance from San Francisco to Hawaii is 2100 nautical miles.

In passing the Langley at 6:10 a. m., the PN9-1 had made up all lost flying time and was actually a minute ahead of schedule, according to figures compiled here.

The elapsed time from the start at 2:55 p. m. yesterday, until 6:10 o'clock today, was 15 hours and 15 minutes. The prepared schedule in advance of the flight gave the time for reaching the Langley, 1200 miles out, as 15 hours, 15 minutes.

No Word from Tow Ship

Capt. Stanford Moses, in charge of flight arrangements, said at 9 o'clock this morning that there was nothing remarkable in lack of further news from the William Jones, now towing the disabled No. 3 plane back toward San Francisco.

The usual procedure was being followed, it was said. One man would be left on the plane to watch the tow lines, while the others would have been transferred to the destroyer.

"There is no cause for anxiety," it was said. "If there had been anything else wrong with the plane, or with the men, the destroyer would have reported on it."

Victory in the U. S. navy's non-stop flight to Hawaii depends upon the giant motors of PN9-1, Com. John Rodgers in charge.

Its engines overheated when oil pressure lines snapped, the PN9-3, with Lt. Allen P. Snody in command, was forced to descend to the surface of the Pacific shortly after dark yesterday.

Within a few hours, the chippled machine was discovered by the destroyer William Jones, taken in tow and is being hauled at slow speed back toward San Francisco.

But the flag plane is pressing forward, and, with favorable trade winds at its back, stands a good chance of succeeding in the navy's latest aeronautical adventure.

The PN9-1 passed over the destroyer Boyen at 4:45 a. m., Pacific Standard time, according to a radiogram received at naval headquarters, at 5:20 a. m.

"No. 1 passed over at 4:45," the message read. "Evidently close, but did not sight it."

The flag plane's elapsed time for the distance was 13 hours, 37 minutes. The average speed over the 1600 miles was 87.70 land miles an hour.

Aided by favorable trade winds, the plane had made up most of the one hour, 20 minutes it was behind schedule at midnight, and was only 37 minutes behind the time table figured for it at this point.

Cheering messages from the PN9-1 during the night told of its continued success. It was in constant radio communication with destroyers along the course and talked with the air tender Langley, 200 miles beyond the Doyen.

Feel Relieved at Rescue.

Naval officers at headquarters here expressed relief when word came from the William Jones that the missing PN9-3 had been found.

"It was a great thing, finding the plane during the dead of night," headquarters officers said. "Say a good word for Commanding Officer B. B. Taylor and his men on the William Jones. Their work in locating the disabled craft is to be commended."

Heading to sea at full speed the U. S. S. Gennet, mother ship of the flight planes, is enroute toward the Jones and its crippled charge. It should meet them tomorrow morning, and probably will lift the plane aboard for the rest of the trip back to the base here.

PLANE ABOUT 400 MILES FROM ISLAND

HONOLULU, T. H., Sept. 1.—First direct word received here from Commander Rodgers, of the trans-Pacific flight plane, was received at the Wahiawa naval radio station, Oahu Island, at 10:10 a. m. today, Honolulu time. The plane did not report its position, but it was believed about 400 miles off Kahului at that time.

Log of Plane In Flight Over Pacific

NAVAL HEADQUARTERS SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—Progress of the seaplane PN9-1, in its attempted non-stop flight to Hawaii, is detailed in the following schedule:

Passed Bonita point, San Francisco bay, 3:08 p. m. Monday.

Passed destroyer William Jones, 200 miles out at 5:57 p. m., Monday

Passed destroyer McCauley, 400 miles out at 8:50 p. m., Monday.

Passed destroyer Coey, 600 miles out, at 11:55 p. m., Monday.

Passed destroyer Meyer, 800 miles out, at 2:20 a. m. Tuesday.

Passed destroyer Doyen, 1000 miles out, at 4:45 a. m., Tuesday.

Passed air tender Langley, 1200 miles out, at 6:10 a. m., Tuesday.

Passed destroyer Reno, 1400 miles out, at 10:27 a. m., Tuesday.

SUPER-AIRPLANES, BUILT FOR U. S., HAVE CRUISING RADIUS OF 2500 MILES

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—Details of two super-airplanes, constructed for the government by Donald W. Douglas, designer of the round-the-world planes, were revealed by the noted aeronautical engineer today.

The planes designed and built by Douglas at his factory at Santa Monica, near here, are the largest and most powerful aircraft in existence.

Some of the outstanding characteristics of these new monsters of the air, according to Douglas, are as follows:

1. Cruising radius of 4500 miles

2. Speed, with 2000 pounds of explosives and several thousand gallons of fuel, 125 miles an hour.

3. Wing spread, 60 feet; body length, 36 feet.

4. Equipped with 400-horsepower Liberty motors.

5. "Ceiling" with the full load, in 20 minutes, 15,900 feet.

The superiority of the new type aircraft is indicated by the fact that the present Martin bombers can only climb as high as 8000 feet.

According to Douglas, the two completed planes were secretly tested at Dayton, O., recently, by high army officers. The tests were a complete success, he said.

Burke Is Renamed To Board Position

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1.—Gov. Friend W. Richardson today announced the appointment of Hugh M. Burke, San Francisco, as a member of the board of directors of the veterans' home at Yountville. Burke has been a member of the board for 27 years and holds commissions from five governors. He also is president of the San Francisco board of commissioners.

$16,161 Tax for Paderewski

Ignace J. Paderewski, the piano player, paid a federal income tax for 1924 of $16,161.24.

Ella Browning Scripps paid $113,606.35.

E. L. Doheny jr. paid $41,112.51. His wife's tax was $46,539.98.

Phil D. Swing, Southern California congressman, paid $66.17.

Huge Earnings in Movies

Uncle Sam's publicity searchlight gave confirmation today to the huge earnings of the movie stars.

The heaviest federal income taxpayer in filmdom, according to internal revenue records, is Douglas Fairbanks. Doug's 1924 tax was $182,190,45.

Gloria Swanson's tax disclosed that she is probably the highest paid of the salaried stars. She paid the government $57,075.23 on her 1924 salary.

Mary Pickford, although she owns, like Doug, her own producing unit, earned less than Miss Swanson, if her income tax can be termed a true barometer. Mary gave Uncle Sam $34,075.23 in revenue on her 1924 earnings.

Harold Lloyd was the most prosperous of the comic stars. His 1924 profits made Charlie Chaplin look like a has-been, and were several times as huge as those of Charles Ray. Lloyd paid a federal income tax of $28,151.16. Chaplin was taxed only $345.81. Ray, reputed to have lost a million dollars when he quit the salaried class to produce his own pictures more than two years ago, turned over to the government $1,359.09 of his 1924 film profits.

Why Chaplin Income Drops

Chaplin's slim earnings in 1924 are probably accounted for in the fact that he was engaged in production during the entire year, filming the only picture he has made in three years. Lloyd made a number of comedies, all of them box-office successes. He recently started construction of a $1,000,000 home in Beverly Hills, and is generally regarded in the film colony as one of the leading money-makers.

Bill Hart, although he is paying generous alimony to his divorced wife, and has been idle for nearly a year, paid a tax of $15,785.40. The big two-gun screen hero receives immense royalties each week from the western thrillers he made many months ago, which are still in circulation.

Pola Negri, emotional Polish star, ranks next to Gloria Swanson as one of the highest of the salaried film performers. She paid Uncle Sam $15,108.76 on her 1924 income.

Arbuckle In List

Fatty Arbuckle, at one time one of the highest paid screen players, and almost penniless two years ago, is returning to the high-salaried class. The rotund comedian's income tax was $6116.44, largely on earnings as director of screen comedies.

Will Rogers paid the government $2,700.57, which included the taxes on his royalties from pictures and syndicated newspaper stories.

Mae Murray, who signed a contract recently with a German film company at a salary of $325,000 annually, paid a tax of $2547.48.

Rudolph Valentino revealed an apparent slump in the popularity of his more recent pictures, his income tax payments totaling only $1995.36.

Joseph Schenck, Samuel Goldwyn, Adolph Zukor, and other millionaire film producers, are understood to have filed their tax returns in New York City. Cecil De Mille, independent producer, paid a tax of $1420.76.

Jesse L. Lasky, vice president and general manager of Famous Players-Lasky, paid a tax of $48,692.12.

Other heavy taxpayers in the film colony included:

Tom Mix, $7514.96.
James Cruze, $40,353.49.
D. W. Griffith, $7,777.57.
Buster Keaton, $2702.43.
Constance Talmadge, $5809.39.
Conrad Nagel, $6740.24.
Lewis Stone, $12,853.41.
Jackie Coogan, $2197.41.

MELLON INCOME TAX NEAR TWO MILLIONS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 1.—Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, paid an income tax of $1,882,609.25. Next to him in the amount of taxes paid in this district is his brother, R. B. Mellon, who paid $1,180,699.64.

DRUG CHAIN HEAD ASSESSED $17,355.95

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—U. S. Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts paid a tax of $158.51. The tax paid by Louis K. Liggett, wealthy operator of a chain of drug stores, was $17,355.95.

SCHUMANN-HEINK TAXES ARE $13,288

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 1.—Ernestine Schumann-Heink, noted contralto, paid income tax of $13,288.47. James W. Coffroth, race track owner, paid $1538.74. Claus Spreckels paid $371.64.

INCOME LAW COSTS BABE RUTH $3342

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 1.—Babe Ruth paid an income tax of $3,342.73.

TO HOLD WARNER FUNERAL IN L. A.

Funeral services for the late G. W. Warner, 62, brother of Henry S. Warner, Orange county captain of the state police, who died Sunday night in Los Angeles, will be held from the Price-Beard funeral parlors, 705 South Figueroa street, Los Angeles at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be made in Los Angeles.

Mr. Warner died of pneumonia, after a brief illness. He had been a resident of California for a number of years.

Beside Captain Warner, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Mabel Holden and Mrs. Warren Beard, both of Los Angeles. A nephew, Arthur Warner, who is the son of Captain Warner, also survives.

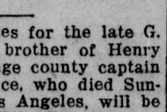

Police News

Charged with distributing advertising matter in Santa Ana, in violation to a city ordinance, Paul Swartz, 42, was arrested yesterday by Earl Lentz, detective. He paid a fine of $10.

Mrs. Robert Gregg, of Olive road and Sunkist avenue, reported to the sheriff's office today that thieves robbed an orange grove, owned by her, some time last night. Tracks made by a truck and footprints were found in the grove early today.

Mr. Mauzy is survived by his widow, Mrs. Blanch Mauzy, who also formerly lived at Tustin.

LAGUNA VILLA TRACT WILL BE PUT ON MARKET

The site of the Laguna Beach Villa, in the heart of the city known as "Our Village," will be subdivided and put on the market at once. This announcement was made today at Laguna Beach by Roy W. Purpus and created great interest in the artist colony.

The tract will be cut into 19 lots and the administration building and cottages, fully equipped, will be sold as units. According to Purpus, it is expected that many of the buildings will be left on the lots where they are now located.

The cutting up of the Villa property is described as the most extensive real estate movement in Laguna Beach since the sale of the Heisler property on the ocean front and was brought about, it was reported, by a demand for business and residential income property in the vicinity of the new coast boulevard and a desire on the part of Mr. Purpus to repay in opportunity those citizens who backed him in the original Villa transaction.

Arthur Mann, who has been associated with Mr. Purpus for some time in a business capacity, will have charge of the sale of the Villa tract, which will be made through the Leach Realty company.

The Villa property has a frontage of 225 feet on the coast boulevard, 380 feet on Central avenue and 180 feet on Laguna avenue. The coast boulevard and Laguna avenue frontage will be sold as business property, and the Central avenue frontage as income residential property.

In announcing the subdivision of the tract, Mr. Purpus declared that he had deeded 4500 square feet of the land on the coast boulevard side to the county. The acquisition of this strip will assist materially in completing the right-of-way for the new road through Laguna Beach, a task which has met with considerable difficulty, according to J. L. McBride, county superintendent of highways.

Court Notes

Suit Was Appeal

A suit filed in superior court by the McKaskey Register company against the Richardson Auto park, of this city, as reported in yesterday's Register, was an appeal by the plaintiff from a victory won by the local firm in justice court. Justice K. E. Morrison, on July 23, denied the McKaskey demand for $158 against the Richardson Auto park, and allowed the latter $27 judgment on a cross-complaint. The McKaskey company then appealed to superior court.

Road Bids Opened

Bids opened by the county supervisors today in connection with two paving contracts in the county, were referred to J. L. McBride, highway superintendent, for classification to determine the lowest bidder. A report from McBride was expected this afternoon. Eight bids were received for the contract of paving Newport avenue for a distance of three miles between Tustin and the junction with South Main street. Seven bids were filed for the contract of paving Orangthorpe avenue, a distance of two and a half miles east from Magnolia avenue

Elect Five Directors

Returns today from the Laguna Beach water district election of yesterday showed the election of five directors from a field of seven candidates.

The following were elected, their respective vote being given: Joseph R. Jahraus, 332; Thomas A. Cummings, 327; James B. Neal, 312; George S. Johnston, 258; Frank B. Champion, 239. John L. Brickels received 165 votes and 158 were cast for John ...hle.

Postpone Self Hearing

Preliminary hearing for Frank Self, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was postponed today by Justice K. E. Morrison until September 15, at 9 a. m. The delay was requested by Attorney O. A. Jacobs, counsel for Self. At the same time, it was rumored that Robert Byars and his mother, Cora Byars, alleged victims of a knife wielded by Self, have disappeared from the county and will not testify against him. They were slashed when Self found them with his wife in this city.

Woman On Trial

Although her co-defendant suddenly changed front at the last moment, pleaded guilty and threw himself on the mercy of the court, Mrs. Anna Paul, of Brea, today went to trial before a jury in Superior Judge R. Y. William's court, where she was charged with selling liquor.

Herman Ramsey, facing the same charge, changed his plea to guilty and asked for probation. His hearing was set for September 4, at 9 a. m. His counsel, O. A. Jacobs and F. H. Jacobs, withdrew from the case today.

DIVORCE AND CUPID BATTLE FOR RECORDS

Marriage and divorce went hand in hand to establish new records during the month of August, just closed.

Figures, announced today by County Clerk J. M. Backs, show that a new August record for marriage licenses was established, with 449 having been issued, compared to 388 for August, 1924. The month was second only to June of this year, during which 492 permits to wed were issued.

On the other side of the domestic picture were a total of 42 divorce, annulment and separate maintenance suits filed during the month. This is another August record and marks the first time that July has been displaced as the divorce month of the year. July had but 23 divorce actions this year. July of last year, however, still holds the record with 48. August, 1924, had but 28.

During the month just closed there were 37 divorce petitions, two suits for annulment of marriages, and three actions for separate maintenance. Wives formed the bulk of the plaintiffs and two charges, cruelty and desertion, were the favorite grounds for complaint.

Court officials have no explanation for the inevitable midsummer spurt of divorce business. At the time when other litigants are discarding their legal cares for the vacation period the divorce seekers are most active.

Backs thinks it merely is a reaction from the June bridal rush. July, he points out, is unually the month of most divorces.

THE HUNT!

WHAT is the most oft-pursued hunt in our city today? You may have an answer ready, but we have an advantage of you! We have checked up! If the hunt for BARGAINS is not the most exhilarating and popular chase in Santa Ana today then our population is just about exactly dividing its efforts!

When Rankin's decided to turn gamester and provide fair "game" in a comfortable and convenient "course," we knew just what we were doing. Our Bargain Basement has maintained its popularity from the very first day.

It's all the more pleasing to customers to be given free rein and to do their own hunting within the confines of a well-stocked "preserve."

VOLCK

You can tell VOLCK-sprayed groves by their clean thrifty appearance

You can go into almost any citrus area in California and pick out the VOLCK-sprayed groves by their clean, thrifty, vigorous appearance. They stand out in sharp contrast to the groves where pest control has been attempted with other methods or materials, or where the grower has not attempted to control the pests at all.

The foliage is a deeper, cleaner green. New growth is unusually abundant. The fruit is clean and attractive. And there is a uniformly good setting of the crop.

This effect becomes more pronounced as groves are sprayed with VOLCK thru successive seasons. It is the result, in part at least, of the fact that the trees are allowed to develop free from the devitalizing effect of the scale, the leaves are cleaned of smut and allowed to function properly, new growth is not burned or retarded, and the trees are allowed to grow and develop unhampered by the pests or by methods used to control the pests.

Every grower knows that clean thrifty trees produce the most and best fruit. And growers are rapidly discovering that VOLCK produces clean thrifty trees. It should be applied now, when the hatch is young and can be most economically controlled.

BIG FEED WILL SIDETRACK ALL RUMP DISPUTES

An old-time political rump convention, such as leading politicians of the county have made famous in sessions of the past, is scheduled to get into action at St. Ann's Inn at 6:30 p. m., September 8, according to announcement issued today by a committee composed of W. B. Williams, J. M. Backs, S. M. Reinhaus, James Sleeper, C. D. Swanner, W. O. Hart, R. E. Larter, W. C. Jerome, T. E. Stephenson, E. B. Collier, K. E. Watson and William Schumacher.

"Standpatism," "progressivism," and "democraticism" is represented in the personnel of the committee, it will be noted, indicating that the "lion has laid down with the lamb" for the occasion, and indicating, further, that peace and harmony reigns in county political circles.

To Be Complimentary Event

The convention is scheduled as complimentary to Orange county men who have been honored by political favors. They are Leon Whitsell, of Orange, now a member of the state railroad commission; Major E. J. Marks, of Fullerton, successor to Frank C. Drumm, as judge of department three of the Orange county superior court; Willard Smith, of Villa Park, appointed a member of the board of supervisors, to fill the vacancy created by resignation of Whitsell, and John Allen, of Villa Park, who succeeds Smith as a member of the Republican county central committee.

The committee asserts that on the program will be speakers of fame in this section who will reveal untold political secrets.

"A ticket for next year's election will be nominated and the lid will be torn off," says the committee in its official announcement of the pending session of the political wiseacres.

Warning To Attend

Sending the announcement to men of all political shades, the committee addresses them as "friends of the common people," and warns them that unless they are present they will have a session with Sheriff Sam Jernigan.

It was recalled that at the last rump convention held at the Inn, honoring Judge Drumm, when he was appointed judge, 60 more men were present than had made plate reservations, and with this in mind, the committee urges that everyone contemplating attendance Tuesday evening of next week make reservations at an early date.

MC DILL TO ASSUME NEW DUTIES SOON

James A. McDill, for the last two years director of boys' work for the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., leaves tomorrow for his new field of work in connection with the San Jose Y. M. C. A., where he will have charge of the work for boys in the city and also in Santa Clara county.

McDill's work locally, in promoting the organization of self-governing boys' clubs in connection with the Y. M. C. A. program, Secretary R. A. Smedley declared, has been of such outstanding quality as to attract attention, and has resulted in his being called to the larger field. His leaving Santa Ana is a matter of regret to all of his friends, and especially the young men and boys with whom he has worked.

He is to assume charge of the boys' work in San Jose at once, working with W. L. Chandler, general secretary of the association in that city.

WOMEN INJURED IN CRASH RECOVERING

The condition of Mrs. Addie Blakey, 76, Seventeenth street and Garden Grove road, and Mrs. T. Sanders, 70, of Garden Grove, who, with several other persons, were seriously injured August 16, when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a car driven by George P. Erickson, near Garden Grove, was reported as improved at the Garden Grove hospital today.

Mrs. L. Terrell, 80, 110 North Garnsey street, Santa Ana, also was in the machine at the time, but escaped with only minor injuries.

Dr. E. E. Violette, Garden Grove physician, stated today that the two other elderly women were recovering and would be discharged from the hospital in a short time.

Mexico to Shoot Peddlers of Do...

YUMA, Ariz., Sept. 1.—Narcotic peddlers in Mexico will be shot at sunrise hereafter, according to a radio proclamation broadcast by President Calles.

Mexicali federal authorities, who received the proclamation, had it immediately promulgated to line officials on the Lower California border.

The executions will be public, it was announced.

ORANGE COUNTY SCHOOL BELLS TO RING SOON

Vacation days are about over and the school bells throughout the county will soon summon the teachers as well as pupils from their play and good times. Scattered about the various spheres of the globe a month or perhaps a week ago, most of them have now returned to the various communities in the county preparatory to the opening of school.

The old world, with its historical places of interest and show places, Central and South America, the Panama canal, sun-kissed Hawaii and the Orient, the Atlantic seaboard, the mountains, the seashores and numerous other interesting places, were among the teachers' summer recreation grounds, while post-graduate work in leading universities took the time of others.

R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, announced today that the schools in the county, with the exception of those in Anaheim and Orange, will open Monday, September 14. Schools in the latter two communities will open Tuesday, September 8.

The Santa Ana city schools will open Monday, September 14, it was announced today at the board of education offices. It was added that according to estimates based on last year's attendance, there will be no appreciable gain in the registration, which last September, for the first month, aggregated 5432.

LAGUNA BEACH WATER BOARD IS SELECTED

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 1.—Casting four more ballots than were registered at the water district election when the proposal was approved by a vote of 359 to 0, the people of Laguna Beach yesterday elected five directors to administer the affairs of the district.

Following is the result of the balloting: Joseph R. Jahraus, 332; Thomas A. Cummings, 327; James B. Neel, 312; George S. Johnston, 258; Frank B. Champion, 239; John L. Brickels, 160; John Jehle, 158.

The vote represents more than 75 per cent of the registered voters in town at the time of the election. Many residents go away for the summer months and rent their cottages. According to figures obtainable, the average vote on similar questions is under 40 per cent.

Four of the men elected are directors of the chamber of commerce and the fifth, Joseph R. Jahraus, had the unofficial endorsement of a majority of the officers and directors.

Mr. Jahraus, who received the highest number of votes, was born in Laguna Beach. He is the son of Elmer E. Jahraus, a pioneer of the town.

Thomas A. Cummings was connected with the public service department of Los Angeles for 25 years, most of the time as superintendent.

James B. Neel is cashier of the Citizens Bank of Laguna Beach and is a financial expert of wide experience.

George S. Johnston is an engineer and capitalist who retired some time ago but who has reentered the business field in Laguna Beach.

Frank B. Champion is a retired builder and contractor.

Under the law the board cannot function officially until Monday, October 11. The need to bring in a supply of good drinking water is so urgent, however, that the board will get together immediately and do much preliminary work that it can sanction later.

The movement for good water was inaugurated by the chamber of commerce more than a year ago when a committee was appointed to investigate the best means of acquiring it. H. G. Heisler was chairman of the committee.

LOS ANGELES the Once Over

ASK RAILROADS TO APPROVE DEPOT PLAN—Urging the city council to adopt a resolution addressed to the executives of the Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads, calling upon them to cease further opposition to the building and use of a union passenger station, to be located near the plaza, as ordered by the California railroad commission and approved by the interstate commerce commission, City Attorney Stephens addressed the city council on the necessity of action by the council to start work on the new station. "For more than 10 years," said City Attorney Stephens, "the city has battled for an adequate union passenger station for Los Angeles and for the elimination of the deadly grade crossings, particularly on Alameda street. We have been opposed at every step by the railroads and yet we have had one victory after another, before courts and commissions, until finally the interstate commerce commission has upheld the city's position. The commission has recommended that the railroads themselves make the move toward the building of a union passenger station near the plaza."

CHIEF DENIES REPORTED SHAKE-UP MOVE—"We are striving to build up the Los Angeles police department and not tear it down!" was, in brief, Chief of Police Heath's answer to the report that he will appear before the police commission and ask for the demotion of more than 100 detective lieutenants to the rank of patrolmen, with corresponding decreases in pay. The rumor, originating from some mysterious source, swept through the detective bureau like wild fire, gathering speed as it traveled. "There is absolutely no truth to this report and I am at a loss to understand where and how it originated," Chief Heath said. The report was published in an afternoon newspaper, and was credited to Acting Mayor Workman.

NIMRODS ASK USE OF RESERVOIRS—Ten city reservoirs which have been gorged with fish for years have annoyed the thousands of fishermen in Los Angeles and vicinity who would enjoy the privilege of hooking some of the finny trophies. The water department always has said "No" to all requests for permits to fish in the reservoirs in order to protect the water supply of the city. Still, the city council two or three times a year receives requests from fishermen for permits to fish in the reservoirs. The one most recently received was referred by the council to Health Commissioner Parrish, who reported to the council that as far as the health department is concerned he can see no objections to fishing in the reservoirs under the strictest regulation. It is expected that the water department, which owns and controls the reservoirs, will not relax its "no-fishing" rule, because of the trouble the department has had in the past with fishermen-campers contaminating the water supply.

MEANEST THIEF

WEST CHESTER, Pa.—Police here are attempting to catch the meanest chicken thieves. The thieves entered the chicken house of Norman Spencer while the family was away, and carried off two mother hens and 50 chickens. To add to the discomfiture of Spencer they took along a fine collie dog, which had been left to guard the chickens.

HELPED THROUGH CHANGE OF LIFE

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during this Critical Time

Baltimore, Md.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to help me through the Change of Life and for a broken-down system. I had been complaining a long time and dragging along had tried other medicines which did not help me much. I read in the newspapers of the Vegetable Compound and after taking a bottle I felt better. I did not stop with one bottle, but took it through the whole critical time and am now practically a well woman. I have two daughters whose health was very bad before they married and I was worried about them. I got the Vegetable Compound for them and it helped them, and after they married it also helped them in bearing their babies. This is a great and good medicine for all complaints of women, and I recommend it to all."—Mrs. L. GINGRICH, 1875 N. Gilmor St., Baltimore, Maryland.

The Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for women of middle age. Let it relieve you of nervousness, that feeling of strain and those annoying hot flashes so common at this time.

Farewell Bridge Tea Given for Friends By Miss Frances Egge

Miss Frances Egge, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Egge, 1330 Bush street, was hostess Saturday afternoon to a delightful bridge tea, given at the home of her parents. The affair was in order of a farewell to her friends, for Miss Egge leaves shortly for Philadelphia, where she will enter the Academy of Fine Arts.

The fragrance and beauty of roses and dahlias placed in large baskets lent their charm to the happy scene. After the guests had assembled, bridge tables were arranged for an afternoon at cards. At the conclusion of the game, the hostess awarded a prettily hand-painted crepe handkerchief to the holder of high score at each table.

Delicious refreshments in keeping with the affair were served. Mrs. O. H. Egge, mother of the hostess, also assisted.

The guest list includes many college friends of Miss Egge. Santa Ana guests bidden to the affair were the Misses Marion Hickman, Adele Johnston, Edith Knox, Mignonne Swales, Helen Randall, Grace Robertson, Lucie McDermott, Marjorie Tubbs, Fern Flood, Helen Tantlinger, Persana Deimling, Bertha Selway, Edith Plavan, Wilma Plavan, Virginia Russell, Lillian Pumphry, Velma Miller, Helen Hankey.

Out of town guests were Miss Helen Friebel, Whittier; Miss Alline Speer, Oxnard; Miss Josephine Servey, Glendale; Miss Mildred Pitt, Monrovia; Miss Margaret Cummings, Orange; Mrs. Holly Joyse, Glendale; Mrs. Clifford Arue, Eagle Rock.

Hartmans Entertain With Dinner Party For Relatives

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hartman of 1112 East First street, were the genial hosts at a jolly chicken dinner at their home last Sunday at noon, complimenting their daughters, Mrs. William Ray Hadley and little daughter, Mary June of Honolulu, T.H., and Mrs. O. S. Hazlett of Wichita, Kans.

The table was centered with dwarf pink dahlias and covers were placed for the hosts, the honored guests and Mr. and Mrs. Orel Anderson and their children Lester and Alma of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson of Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Otis Hopkins and the children, Billie and Ollie of Whittier; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Millstead and children, Mabel and Myron Irvine.

The afternoon hours were pleasantly wed away with a trip to Laguna Beach.

Baptist Women To Hold Rally Day Tomorrow

At the special rally day services, to be held tomorrow at the Baptist church by the Baptist women's societies, besides other numero features, there will be the installation of officers. The gathering also will celebrate the fifth anniversary of the merging of all women organizations of the church.

The committee announces that there will be no industrial work in the morning and that at noon a pot luck luncheon will be served. Members are asked not to bring any dishes as the church will furnish cream and cake.

In the afternoon, there will be a special program presented. Mrs. W. H. Wilson, retiring president of the unit, is in charge of the affair.

Firefighters Report Flames Under Control

The fire in the northeastern section of the county, near San Juan Hot Springs, which has been raging almost a week, was reported under complete control today.

Although about 350 fire fighters sent from Corona, Riverside and Elsinore remain on duty on the fire lines, reports to the lookout at Elsinore were to the effect that they men were watching for further outbreaks.

"We have conquered the blaze, and although it is not out yet, there has been no advance made by the flames, all we have to do now is hold," said the lookout.

Merry Santa Ana Party Entertained By Former Residents

A merry company, composed of members of Calumpit Camp and Auxiliary, U. S. W. V., spent the past week-end most delightfully at Carlsbad, San Diego county, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Offutt, former residents of Santa Ana.

The motorists arrived at their destination in time for a sumptuous dinner, and a vacant lot near the Offutt home was provided for accommodations for al fresco sleeping, which was greatly enjoyed.

After breakfast, the time was passed with bathing and other beach pastime and for the noon meal, Mr. Offutt provided delicious green corn and luscious watermelon.

Including the hosts and their interesting family, those participating in the outing included Commander W. W. Tantlinger, Mrs. Tantlinger and their children, Ruth, Norma and Keith; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Deaver, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lindquist, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Farrar, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Gay, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Winter, Ruth and George Winter and little Freddie James, Mr. and Mrs. Cap Moulton and daughter Frances and their guest, Mrs. J. P. Lyons of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Donovan and son Jesse of Orange and C. J. Christenson.

Women's Organization Welcomes Return Of Members

Now that the facation season is nearing a close, the attendance is gradually increasing at the weekly luncheon meetings of the Business and Professional Women's club held at St. Ann's Inn.

The club yesterday welcomed the return of many members and the attendance was the best since last spring.

The usual happy comradeship and friendliness prefailed over the serving of the luncheon. Miss Prudence Macober, of the Rankin store entertained the club with several readings, splendily interpreted.

Miss Martha Whitson, president, was in charge of the meeting and announced that she was planning to attend the Business and Professional Women's conference to be held in the Athletic club in Los Angeles this coming Saturday afternoon and evening. She urged the members to attend, assuring them an interesting and enjoyable time.

It also was announced that the organization would not meet next Monday, as meeting would come on Labor Day.

M. E. Ladies Aid and Missionary Society

An all-day meeting will be held Wednesday of the Methodist Ladies' Aid and Home Missionary societies of the First Methodist church in the church parlors. The meetings will open at 10 o'clock and at noon a dinner will be served. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the missionary meeting will take place.

NO BLAME FIXED IN CRASH DEATH

No responsibility was fixed by a coroner's jury in the death of Elzie E. Boles, Santa Ana man, who died in the Orange county hospital Sunday from injuries received in an automobile crash on the Garden Grove road, late Saturday. An inquest over the body was held in the Winbigler Mission Funeral home yesterday afternoon.

A verdict of accidental death was returned, the jurymen deciding that Boles came to his death from a basal fracture of the skull, following an accident on the highway.

Funeral services will be held in the Winbigler Mission funeral home this afternoon, the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating. Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Grove Man Injured In Auto Collision

George E. Brunswick, Garden Grove resident, was hurt at 6 o'clock last night, when the automobile in which he was riding collided with another machine on the Long Beach road, near the Bixby ranch bridge, according to a report filed by telephone to the sheriff's office.

Brunswick was taken to his home where it was said his injuries were not of a serious nature.

A detailed account of the accident has not been filed with authorities.

Troth Is Plighted At Home Wedding

One of the prettiest of the late summer weddings was that which was solemnized last Saturday night at eight o'clock, when Miss Irene N. Garner plighted her troth to Wayne De Witton Tibbs at the home of Mrs. W. M. Smart, 714 North Main street, where Miss Garner has resided for the past two and a half years.

The spacious living rooms were aglow with glorious yellow dahlias and graceful golden glow, artistically arranged in bowls and baskets and only the soft light of candles illuminated the pretty scene.

Preceding the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the Christian church, Miss Clara Helen Tibbs, sister of the groom, sweetly sang "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs Bond, accompanied on the piano by Miss Fannie Smart, who also played Lohengrin's wedding march, as the bridal party descended the stairs.

Miss Marie Foldesi made a charming bridesmaid in her gown of scarlet lace over satin, while the bride was a picture in her two-piece dress of fawn color with harmonizing hat in the new violet shade. She carried a beautiful shower of pink rosebuds, oxalis and ferns.

As the groom was unattended, the officiating minister performed a pretty little service by asking his sister, Miss Clara Helen Tibbs, to stand by him.

Following congratulations, Mrs. Smart and her daughters, served dainty refreshments in the dining room, lighted by the glow from green candles, individual ones being placed at each cover and about the centerpiece of yellow dahlias and ferns. Orange sherbet, carrying out the color tone, angel food hearts, devil's food and coffee were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Tibbs carried out a clever plot to deceive the well-meaning offices of their friends from the Orange County Title company, with which Mrs. Tibbs is employed, by placing a couple in an automobile with a girl leaning on the shoulder of the driver, while a merry party followed the car for some distance before the ruse was discovered.

Mr. and Mrs. Tibbs went to their home at 1315 North Van Ness avenue, and early on Sunday went to Big Bear for a brief honeymoon. Mr. Tibbs is employed with the Southern Counties Gas company and his wife will resume her duties with the Orange County Title company, at the close of their vacation.

HANDS MUST BE CAPABLE AS WELL AS BEAUTIFUL

In the good old days, when knights were bold and a woman's head wasn't supposed to have any value other than a purely decorative one, the perfumed lovers, courtiers and troubedors whose ideas on the fair sex have affected standards ever since, held that women's hands must be small, fragile and delicate.

Poets wrote odes to their ladies' hands. They compared these hands—which must have been utterly useless for any work more strenuous than wielding a powder puff—to rose buds, to doves' wings and other decorative but non-utilitarian things.

And that idea has pretty well survived into our own era. We may not write verses to a woman's hands any more, but just the same, any woman whose hands are unusually small and delicate generally can be counted on to take pains to display them prominently any time she wants to appear especially beautiful.

And that's all fair enough, too. But—

Comes now a British medical man, given, like most of his kind, to orotund pronouncements on the least provocation, with the declaration that changes in woman's mode of living are slowly but surely changing the shape of her hands.

Very soon, he says, the small, lily-like hand will be a thing of the past. Hands will be large, strong and capable, suited for real work as well as for ornamentation.

The change is already upon us, he adds. The small hand is the exception now; the large hand is the rule.

This is largely due, in his opinion, to the growing popularity of sports among women, as well as to woman's growing realization that she can be happier doing some kind of work than living a life of flowery idleness.

Now he is inclined to look on this change, however, as a change for the better other than utilitarian standpoints. For, he says, woman's hands are not only growing larger; they are also growing more shapely. From an artistic point of view, he insists, woman has every reason to be thankful for the change.

There is comfort for the woman with large hands.

Of course, all of this isn't really so terribly important. And yet, it somehow seems as if it were more or less emblematic of the change that is coming upon women today in other ways.

It wasn't so very long ago that almost all women were supposed to be ornamental and nothing else. Some of us can even remember that time. Woman was supposed to be pretty, charming, unselfish and good—above all, good—and she was supposed to know a little something about directing a house, but that about ended it. The woman with brains, who liked to keep abreast of the times in art, literature and events of the day, was rather frowned upon, and as for the woman who earned her own living when it wasn't absolutely necessary—well, she was almost outside the pale.

Now all of that has changed. It isn't enough now for woman to be charming. She must amount to something. If taking care of a house and raising children occupy her time, well and good; if not, she must find something else to keep her busy. A female idler is now as unpopular as a male.

Santa Anans Leave For Eight Weeks Tour of East

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Bennett, 809 East First street, left this afternoon for an eight weeks' trip touring the East. Their first stop will be made at Louiston, Idaho, where they will be the guests of relatives. From there, they will journey to Lewistown, Montana, and then on to Erie, Pa., taking the New York Central to New York City. They will return to California by way of Cleveland, Ohio.

The Bennetts are well known in Santa Ana and for a number of years Mr. Bennett has been ailing in health. It is expected that this trip will help him regain his health.

Segerstrom Country Home Scene of Pre-nuptial Affair

Complimenting Miss Veronica Merrick, popular Santa Ana young woman, who is to be the September bride of Harold Segerstrom, the Misses Christine, Ann and Ida Segerstrom, and Mrs. Irving B. Meyer assisted by their mother, Mrs. J. C. Segerstrom entertained at a pretty arranged and charming miscellaneous shower party Saturday afternoon.

The rooms of the beautiful country home of the Segerstroms were brightened with the radiant glow of yellow daisies, marigolds, zenias and ferns.

During the afternoon, the guests turned their attention to the playing of bridge and when the score was called, Miss Elsie Fluor came out with high score winning the first award. Miss Nora Lykke with second high score, won the second prize.

The hostesses in presenting the gifts to the honoree chose an artistic way of doing this. They made a large yellow paper daisy and within the folds of the petals nestled the gifts for the future bride. The flower was arranged as the center piece on the dining room table.

Yellow was the predominating color expressed in the decorations, both for the home and table appointments. The luncheon tables were centered with cut glass baskets of daisies tied with yellow tulle.

The guests were Mrs. J. A. Merrick, Mrs. W. Armstrong, Mrs. Claire McClintock, Mrs. Thomas Willits, Mrs. Carl R. Edgar, Mrs. W. Rochester, Mrs. Anton Segerstrom, Miss Nora Lykke, Miss Ruth Armstrong, Miss Elsie Fluor, Miss Florence Doig, Miss Veronica Merrick, Mrs. Irving B. Meyer, Miss E. Christine Segerstrom, Ann Segerstrom, Ida Segerstrom and Mrs. C. J. Segerstrom.

NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

RUM RUNNERS DON'T TROUBLE POLICE CHIEF

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 1.—Inland sections furnished the liquor that brings the week-end toll of arrests for drunkenness and wild party rampages here. No swift rum running boats are operating through the Orange county harbor.

Police officials of Newport Beach in combating "wet" forces find that smugglers particularly avoid water landings on the bay.

No worries are held by City Marshal J. A. Porter relative to the assertions that a black and mysterious 800-horsepower speed boat is making landings of liquor along the Southern California coast.

Porter Says Boat Mythical.

Coast guard officers recently reported having seen the craft at Santa Barbara. It is believed to be the fastest rum runner cruising in this vicinity.

"It sounds like a myth to me," Marshal Porter remarked.

Though not denying the remote possibility that boats might covertly be operating here, police officers point to the improbability that rum runners would run the risk of being botfled up in the bay if discovered.

This section is believed to be too greatly populated to be an inviting field for rum runners. The tactics of the liquor smugglers have tended toward the practice of locating their caches in desolate places along the coast, it is said.

Sources of the liquor confiscated in arrests at the beach here for drunkenness are continually being sought. Arrested men queried on where they received their liquor have admitted to police that they brought it here with them.

Most of the violators come here with small amounts of the contraband intent on staging a "wet" celebration at Balboa or Newport Beach, Porter said.

Sometimes when arrested, the violators take offense at the officers. However, a firm policy of combating the liquor trade has been maintained in an effort to keep the city free from undesirables.

The campaign has been carried on so thoroughly that fines assessed against violators have been totaling an amount equal to the expenses of the police department.

Most of money paid in fines in the court of City Recorder Andrew Wilson have been for liquor violations. Totals for both July and August were well above the $2000 mark, the reports show.

Pioneer Doctor Of Newport Beach Back from Trip

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 1.—Dr. Conrad Richter, city trustee, and Mrs. Richter, were back today from a month's vacation spent in Mexico City visiting the vestages of Aztec civilization.

During their trip, they went to different points in the vicinity of Mexico City. One of the most interesting places was the Aztec pyramids. In the capital they visited Iztapalapa, where the Aztecs in olden times kept the sacred eternal fire burning.

BUILDING PERMIT TOTAL IN SLUMP

FULLERTON, Sept. 1.—Failure of building totals to gain over those of last month was due to lack of construction of any large buildings, according to Grover L. Walters, city building inspector, who said that the totals for August amounted to $30,193, while for July, permits issued totaled $41,755.

More homes were built this month than last, according to Walters, the size of the total last month being due to a permit of $30,000 for the new Santa Fe hotel, on South Spadra avenue. Five new homes were built here in August, while only one was constructed last month.

In August of 1924, building totals reached the mark of $370,600, through construction of the Chapman theater, the Ebell clubhouse, and $23,000 on school buildings. Eleven homes were built during that month in 1924, Walters said.

ANAHEIM BUILDING TOTAL IN DECREASE

ANAHEIM, Sept. 1.—Building permits issued for August show a decided drop, as compared with July this year and with August last year.

Permits totaling $29,080 were issued during August this year, as compared with $121,845 during July, and as compared with $34,965 during August 1924, according to the report of R. P. Tompkins, city building inspector.

A permit in the amount of $16,850 issued to Gilbert Kraemer, local capitalist, for the erection of a brick business structure was the only large one granted last month, the majority of the permits being in small amounts largely for alterations and repairs to private residences.

Delay Action On Proposed Deal For Beach Strip

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 1.—Action on a recommendation that the city purchase ocean frontage was deferred yesterday at the regular meeting of the chamber of commerce when the beach committee of the organization asked for the extension of time to report on the matter.

That the committee, wishes to investigate fully the steps necessary to secure the beach front, was intimated. It is expected that their report will include an estimate of the amount of land which should be bought the price of the property and the legal proceedings necessary to go through to acquire the beach.

The report will probably be made at the next meeting of the chamber of commerce. The agriculture committee also asked for an extention of time to prepare details for the best lawn contest.

A recommendation from the committee was adopted to the effect that garden awards be made July 15 of each year and that lawns be judged and prizes awarded October 1 of each year.

YACHT SEASON OF YOUNG FOLK NEARLY OVER

BALBOA, Sept. 1.—A fast slipping week of activities for the junior yachtsmen of the Balboa Island yacht club yet remains and then the summer season of water sports will be ended until next year.

Members of the youngsters yachting club will meet next Saturday for the last time before disbanding. This week the final races under the burgee of the club are being held. Cups won during the season's race series will be awarded at the meeting Saturday evening.

New Officers Elected

Already the officers for next year have been elected. Jack Crook will succeed Bob Griffin as commodore.

This year the yachting club was actively organized for the young skippers of Newport bay. J. A. Beek, vice commodore of the Newport Harbor yacht club, was the founder.

Spirited times have been enjoyed by the club members during the summer. Rivalry has been keen in row boat races, swimming contests and sharp model boat clashes. Last Saturday, Commodore Bob Griffin captured the heated series races for row boats by a bare margin of 10 points over Tobey White.

Race Model Yachts

Model boat racing has attracted the interest of many of the club members. In a challenge meet Saturday, William Murphy successfully defended the island against Edward Plumb representing the peninsula. However, because he was donor of the cup, the winning youth allowed it to go to his rival, Plumb.

All the junior yachtsmen are reluctant to see the season close.

"I don't want to lose my tan," was the way Commodore Griffin, freckled and bronzed from the summer's exposure, expressed his anticipation of another vacation of fun on the bay.

A program of activities even more extensive than this year's is planned by the new officers for next summer. With a membership of more than 60, the club promises to attract much interest in its water sports.

Officers elected to head the club next year are Jack Crook, commodore; Tobey White, vice commodore; Dan Murphy, rear commodore; David McCracken, fleet captain; Warren White, port captain; and Miss Marie McSpadden, secretary.

BIRTH RECORD IN FULLERTON SOARS

FULLERTON, Sept. 1.—Total births in Fullerton and vicinity set a new record, far outstripping marks made for several years, according to City Clerk Fred Hezmalhalch, who said today that 40 youngsters arrived in the city and vicinity during the month of Auguest.

The largest number of births recorded here before was in August, 1923, when 39 children arrived, Hezmalhalch declared.

Boys were far more numerous in the birth list, according to the city clerk, 23 arriving, compared to 17 girls. Of this number, six came in pairs, with W. T. Boyce, dean of the Fullerton junior college, W. C. Christensen, instructor in the Fullerton grammar schools, and Fred Francis, announcing the birth of twins.

Six deaths were recorded during the month, according to the clerk.

TO CONFER ON DAM PLAN

ST. PAUL.—War department officials and Illinois coal dealers will confer here as to the possibility of building a 20-foot dam on the Mississippi south of the Twin Cities, to raise the river level enough to permit barge service on coal to the northwest from the Illinois fields.

BUILDING MARK AT HIGH LEVEL AT BEACH CITY

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 1.—August building permits of $21,870 brought the year's total past the $300,000 mark for Newport Beach, it was revealed today by J. A. Porter, city license collector.

Steady building activities have been carried on here this summer, according to the data on the permit books.

The August total exceeded the July sum by slightly over $1000, Porter said. This amount, however, falls nearly $5000 short of the total for August last year, when a mark of $26,360 was reached.

During the last month, Porter has issued permits for 32 structures. Most of these called for erection of homes or garages. The largest permit was taken out by K. King Joslyne for building a $4000 residence on Surf avenue in East Newport.

C. H. Shaver was granted a permit to construct a $2300 home at 1720 Ocean avenue. Other large permits calling for expenditures of $1500 were issued to H. C. Marshall, 112 Bay Front, Balboa Island; Walter D. Horn, 115 Thirteenth street, Newport; and T. W. Oglesby, 3110 Ocean Front, Newport.

A short business meeting will be held, to be followed by reports on the county board meeting last month by Mrs. T. B. Talbert, Mrs. May Jackson, Mrs. Bert Gothard, Mrs. Eda Mae Pine, and Mrs. Edna B. Downs, president of the club.

PERSONAL NEWS OF FULLERTON

FULLERTON, Sept. 1.—Mrs. W. J. West, of Falls City, Ore., who has been visiting at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Borst, is planning to return to her home on Wednesday.

Mrs. Ross Nellins and her little son, who have been visiting for the past three weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Pfleghardt, of Malvern Heights, returned to her home in Victorville yesterday.

Mrs. A. P. Ludeman of Hollywood is a guest at the H. S. Gaines home in Placentia. For the past week Margaret and Gertrude Hickman of Alhambra were house guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wood have as their house guest for this week, Miss Libby Milldrum, of Los Angeles.

Judge and Mrs. E. J. Marks and son, Adrian, who have been spending the summer at their Balboa cottage, have returned to Fullerton, where they will be located in their new home, 432 Melvern avenue.

Clever announcement of the betrothal of Miss Esther Jackson and William Craemer was made at a luncheon given by her mother at her home on South Spadra road, Saturday afternoon. A color scheme of lavender and rose was used in all appointments, and each place card bore a rhyme, telling the happy news with a picture of the honored couple in the corner. Guests were from Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton.

A public dinner is to be sponsored at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Brooks near Fullerton, on Thursday evening by Fullerton court, number 52, Order of the Amaranth.

EXPECT HUGE HOLIDAY CROWD AT BEACH CITY

BALBOA, Sept. 1.—Thousands of visitors are being expected here for the Labor day holiday, September 7, when the last big celebration of the summer season here, is planned.

A concert will be given by the Pacific Electric band during the day. Other features for entertaining the people are being arranged.

The holiday observance is expected to extend over the week end and to the Admission day celebration, September 9. Plans for entertaining visitors are being arranged by Harry Welch, city advertising manager.

With the holiday celebration over, the summer season at the beach will be closed. The summer populace will be returning to inland sections preparatory to the opening of the school fall term.

Tustin Briefs

TUSTIN, Sept. 1.—Members of the Neighbors club entertained their husbands with a steak bake at Orange county park. A double incentive was added to the party when it was learned that the party was also the birthday anniversary of Frank Greenwood. A large birthday cake, baked by his wife, was cut. Following the steak bake the members of the party enjoyed several games of cards before motoring to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Watson, where dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Kiser and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Lindsey, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Murray and family, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sharpless, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Runnells and family, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Turner, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lindsey and son, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Greenwood, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Watson, Mrs. A. I. Greenwood, and Charles Greenwood.

Plans for an all-day meeting of the Altruistic club of the Tustin Pythian Sisters were laid at a meeting of the club held at the home of Mrs. Eva Holford. The meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Emma King Wassum of Laguna Beach.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Holford, who was assisted by Miss Wellella Holford and Miss Norma Nordstrom. Among those present were Mesdames Emma Christensen, Irene Cook, Mabel Henry, Ruth Anderson, Gertrude Cook, Ora Collar, Leona Alderman, Florence McCharles, Emma Wassum, May Stafford, Ida King, Edith Mathews, Emma Sherme, Carol Reynolds, Dorothy Padias, Katie Pollard, LaVerne Penman, Jessie Kiser, Sarah Mathews, Lottie Nordstrom and the hostess, Mrs. Eva Holdford.

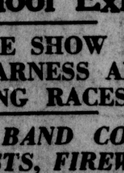

Rev. W. M. Jackson, pastor of the first Presbyterian church in Riverside preached at the Presbyterian church here Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Shepley and family of Mexico were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Utt last week.

Miss Florence Boosey of Riverside, formerly of this city, is spending a few days as the house guest of Miss Mary Dunstan.

WHAT COUNCIL DID

DISTRICT ASKS TO BE ANNEXED BY SANTA ANA

With William Whalen acting as spokesman for the group, 15 property owners of the Country Club Gardens appeared before the city council last night and made an appeal for admission to the city, via annexation.

"We are in a desperate situation and unless the city annexes the section we will organize a little city of our own, and that may block Santa Ana in future expansion," Whalen said, by way of indicating that residents are determined to do something to relieve themselves of a situation developing by reason of a shortage of water for the section.

It was suggested that virtually all the lands lying south of Edinger street, and between that street and Delhi road, on the west side of South Main street, be included in the territory proposed to be annexed.

It was pointed out by Whalen and others in the group that a petion for annexation had been signed a year ago by many of the home owners in the tract, but that it had not been filed because it was said by council members that it would be useless.

E. B. Collier, acting as chairman of the council in the absence of J. W. Tubbs, advised the group to present the petition and to secure the services of an attorney to co-operate with Acting City Attorney Franklin West for initiation of proper steps for annexation. The petition probably will be filed next Monday.

"I am sure the council will give the petition careful consideration, and I am sure members of the council will be glad to co-operate in every way possible" Collier said in closing discussion on the subject.

Oryanization of a district for the installation of sewers and a proper water distributing system was intimated as a possible necessary action before annexation could be effected. Collier directed attention to the fact that if the property were annexed it would not be liable for present bonded indebtedness of the city.

KERNELS
BY THE COLONEL

A post hole digger, capable of digging 75 posts in a single day has been introduced in Santa Ana by the telephone company.

Why doesn't some one suggest that the county fair association rent this instrument, to be used the last day of the fair, to dig graves for the big hats?

Long Beach could profit with it also, to use it to dig down some of the mountains on the south end of Ocean avenue. If some of the roller-coasters could be taken out of this street, it will be a big aid to the business of operators of the roller-coasters on the pike.

Going into Long Beach motorists get all the roller-coasting they can use for six months long before they ever get to the pike.

There are more waves to the square inch on that street than the Santa Ana "dads" could put on South Main street, even if they tried harder than they have for the past six months.

Seen on yesterday's Register Society Page:—"Society women wear their costumes right through the season and don't seem to mind how often they are seen in the same costume, or how many duplicates of it appear" !!!!! Fill up the needle again, nurse, quick!!

WHAT AMERICA NEEDS MOST
"A new addition table for golfers."

Want-ad seen in yesterday's Register.—"Wanted—women to mend clothes and plain sewing," etc.

PUZZLE—FIND THE WOMAN
"Hernimi Uride, 31, El Modena and Francisco Troncosa, 47, El Modena, suffered injuries at 8:15 a. m. today when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a machine driven by Jack Lee, Wilmington. Both were taken to the Orange county hospital where the woman was found to be suffering from a broken shoulder."—Yesterday's Register.

Louie Heffner, of the state police wants to know why it is that more whiskey can be found in autos going toward Tia Juana on Sunday than in automobiles coming from Tia Juana.

Here's the dope, Louie. Persons headed for Tia Juana generally are on a party, and for fear of custom officials or the Mex. police they B. T. O. B. On the return trip, they have decided that booze is not what it's cracked up to be, especially on the morning after, so there is none in the cars. Next?

SERVE WITH DYNAMITE!!
"The party was a hick affair at which everyone was called on to dress up in accordance to their ideas of a Hick. Quite a variety of make-ups were in evidence ranging all the way from Old Farmers to Dudes. The evening was started off with a series of lively games. These were followed by a grand march during which the pasture and his wife acted as judges in selecting the best hick and hickes of the evening. Harlan Pearl ran away with the boys honors as an overgrown baby."

AND THEN—
"The climax of the evening came in Championship Wood Cutting match between —— and ——. The contestants blindfolded and with left hands tied together used each others heads as chopping blocks."

"Dear Colonel: Your answers have been so wise to many questions sent you, wonder if you could tell me why it is that when the police rush out on a burglar call, they always blow the sirens? Is it to let the burglar know they are coming?—R. B."

Probably the same reason that the police ask the newspapers to hold up a burglary story sometimes. They don't want the burglar to know he has committed the crime.

When you hear the sirens it either means the motor cops are out after a burglar, bank robber, or going to lunch.

NUT-Y-GRAMS.
"I think the big hats are the bunk, don't you?"

In Investigate Alleged Night Noises

Councilmen George McPhee and Frank Purinton were named by the council last night as a committee to investigate complaints made against the operation of a wholesale and retail fruit and vegetable market on the southwest corner of Fifth and Parton streets.

According to statements by J. C. Gilband and J. R. Cary, owners of property on Parton street, opposite the market, persons delivering produce to the place disturb the neighborhood by talking and operating their machines at unseemly hours in the morning.

Both declared that tenants were vacating their properties because noise made by the peddlers made it impossible for them to sleep at night.

Purinton and McPhee will discuss the situation with the market operators in an effort to see if they cannot arrange to eliminate the noise. It was intimated that court action would be brought to abate the asserted nuisance in event the operators did not effect a change in the method of operation of the plant.

YOST THEATER SIGN MAY BE RELOCATED

Removal of the Yost theater electric sign, suspended across East Fourth street, at Spurgeon street, is a possibility of the immediate future, it was disclosed at the meeting of the city council last night by reports made by E. B. Collier and Charles Chapman, following conferences with E. D. Yost, proprietor of the theater. W. O. Packard, city electrician, was directed to confer with Yost with reference to relocation of the sign on top of a building near the intersection.

Application of a junk and wrecking concern, to move its junk yard to the 1600 block on West Fifth street, was referred to the police and street commissioners.

Application of Chris Sorenson for permission to operate a lunch counter in the A. and B. bowling alleys, on West Fourth street, was referred to the police commissioner.

Permission was given for the moving of houses at 807 South Main and 115 North Main to new locations, the former going to the 1900 block on West First and the latter to 924 Logan. The council refused permission to move a house at 606 East Santa Clara avenue to a point outside the city. Refusal was on the ground that the building was not worth moving.

Permission was given F. M. Young to cut the curb on East First and on Spurgeon streets to make the corner lot available for use by the Citrus Tire company, which is to establish a tire service station on the lot.

An appropriation of $50 was made the junior chamber of commerce to assist in meeting the expenses of taking the band on the county friendship tour on September 9.

ITALIANS TO REACH U. S. OCTOBER 15

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. — An Italian debt commission will arrive in the United States about October 15, to open negotiations with the American debt funding commission on Italy's $2,000,000,000 debt to the United States, it has been announced at the treasury department.

American debt commissioners hope to reach a satisfactory agreement with France for funding her $4,000,000,000 debt before the Italians arrive.

Negotiations with the French are scheduled to open September 23.

CITY TAX RATE IS INCREASED ONLY 5 CENTS

Despite a decrease of approximately $1,000,000 in the assessed valuation of the city, as made by County Assessor Sleeper, the city council today had established the city tax rate at a figure only 5 cents in excess of that on which city finances were collected last year. The rate fixed is $1.70, compared with $1.65 last year.

The increase of 5 cents was split one half to the library fund, the rate being increased from 12½ cents to 15 cents, and the other 2½ cents was divided among various bond funds.

The $1 rate, permitted under the state law controlling cities of the fifth class, was divided 45 cents to the general fund, 30 cents to street, 20 cents to fire and 5 cents to sewer.

The 70 cents was divided among special funds voted by the city voters as follows:

Park, advertising and band, 1 cent each; library, 15 cents; Flower street bridge, $0.0035; Main street bridge, $0.016; water bonds No. 2, $0.03; water No. 3, $0.008; water No. 4, $0.025; water No. 5, $0.018; water No. 6, $0.0755; sewer No. 1, $0.016; sewer No. 2, $0.015; Fire No. 1, $0.006; fire No. 2, $0.0235; city hall No. 2, $0.008; street apparatus, $0.008; Main street improvement bonds, $0.018; East First street bonds, $0.0055; Bristol street, $0.0055; for paving around school properties, $0.0225; culverts, $0.003; Santa Ana Main sewer line, $0.0725; joint outfall, $0.0825; electric fire alarm system, $0.015; east side fire station, $0.007; west side fire station, $0.007; fire apparatus, $0.013; West Fifth street improvement, $0.016.

Woman, Bitten By Snake, Saves Life

HOOKER, Calif., Sept. 1.—Presence of mind of Mrs. Harry Moore, when she sucked blood from a thumb bitten by a rattlesnake, saved her life, attending physicians said.

Mrs. Moore was bitten while picking grapes in the vineyard of her ranch home. She hastened afoot to Hooker, three miles distant, sucking the wound en route.

As a result, the infection, while painful, will not be fatal, physicians stated.

Coolidge to Speak At Legion Session

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Sept. 1.—President Coolidge plans to go to Omaha, Neb., to attend the American Legion's national convention, October 5 to 9.

An invitation to attend and speak, extended by National Com. James A. Drain, some time ago, was renewed by Alton T. Roberts, chairman of the Legion's national committee on distinguished guests.

Mr. Coolidge authorized Roberts to announce that he intended to go. The presiden probably will be in Omaha on October 6, the big day of the convention.

Help That Aching Back!

IS a bad back wearing you out? Are you lame and achy; nervous and depressed? Do you suffer headaches; dizziness and disturbing bladder irregularities? Then you should know that these are often signs of kidney disorder and kidney trouble is too dangerous to neglect. Your kidneys keep the blood stream pure. Once they slow up in their work, poisons accumulate and cause an upsetting of the whole system.

Why, then, risk neglect? If you have reason to suspect your kidneys, give Doan's Pills a trial. Doan's have been used successfully for over thirty-five years. They are recommended by thousands. Ask your neighbor!

Here is Santa Ana Proof:

Mrs. E. S. Burdick, 1039 W. Third St., says: I had kidney complaint and became run down. My back often ached as if it would break, and my kidneys acted irregularly. I read of Doan's Pills and got some from Park's Drug Store. They gave me relief at once, regulating my kidneys and benefitting me in every way."

CAKES, ICE CREAM, JAM AND JELLY VALUED AT $1000 ARE TAKEN TO CAMP KEARNEY

Wow! The way those Santa Ana people did send jam and jelly to the ex-service men at the Camp Kearney hospital last Sunday.

There were 95 cakes, $50 worth of cigars, enough ice cream to make a snow scene, pipes, oranges—but wait a minute. Let Mrs. Florence R. Robinson, of the American Legion auxiliary, tell all about it. She directed it and did most of the work, 'tis said.

"Well I never was so dumbfounded in all my life when I saw the auxiliary and Legion 'gang' arrive at Camp Kearney Sunday afternoon. Having preceded them to camp, for hubby, in-laws and myself week-ended at San Diego. I didn't really know how much the Legion auxiliary would have by Saturday night to take to the boys at camp. Well, we had two trucks, filled with jams, jellies, canned fruits, smokes, pipes, oranges, cakes, books, magazines, feather pillows and ice cream.

Two Trucks Loaned

"Henry Seidel and George Edgar loaned their trucks and at least 25 Legionnaires and auxiliary women accompanied them.

"Robert Bradford entertained during the afternoon with several songs, Miss Mollie Mosher accompanying at the piano.

The men and women patients at Camp Kearney said that they never have had such a huge party given them since they have been in camp and a few figures in the rough will show that Santa Ana people are there when it comes to helping make happy the men and women who were in the World war. The Santa Ana Legion auxiliary wishes to thank everyone who had part in the affair and only wishes that each might have participated in the fun at camp.

"More than 2500 receptacles of jam, jellies and fruit were donated and these ranged from small glasses to half-gallon cans. Five crates of oranges, 10 gallons of ice cream, 105 home-made cakes, four dozen feather pillows, six dozen pillow cases, at least $50 worth of cigars, cigarets, pipes, etc., a score of good books and dozens of periodicals, also were taken to the camp.

Value Over $1000

"As the auxiliary units were required to estimate their welfare work in figures for the state convention, you can help find us a Philadelphia or Delhi lawyer to figure out the entire value of the load that went to Camp Kearney. It will, no doubt, easily reach a figure of from $1000 to $1500.

"Six of the wards at Camp Kearney are occupied by bed patients, those that are confined to their beds all of the time. These were served with all the cake and ice cream they could eat by the auxiliary members, and the rest of the patients formed one big party in the Red Cross house, where they gorged on ice cream and cake until they could eat no more.

About 250 Patients

"There are only about 250 patients at the camp at present, compared with the 500 or more that were there in the spring. Many pass on each week to the place where their suffering is forever ended, many have been transferred to other hospitals and many have been discharged. But again this fall the wards will, no doubt, be filled again, for each winter brings more patients to sunny California in quest of health.

"Santa Ana auxiliary is going to be very proud when it gives its welfare report at the state convention, to be held at Catalina, the middle of this month, for in giving it, it will let the world know that the people of Santa Ana have been with it 100 per cent and can be counted upon, when wanted. Gosh, I'll be forgetting my darling Toledo, next thing I know.

Many Donors Unknown

"In thanking those who helped the auxiliary in its last endeavor, the girls who checked up the donations as they arrived at the Legion building tried to get everyone's name, but some of the fruit was left at the door before and after they were there and the names of the donors, in many cases, are unknown. To these, as well as the persons whose names we have on our honor list, we wish to give the hearty thanks of the Santa Ana American Legion auxiliary and of the patients at Camp Kearney hospital.

"FLOSSIE R. ROBINSON."

"P. S. Please include The Register in the list for if it had not been for the publicity, our party never could have been one hundredth of the success that it was. "F."

50 AUTOS ARE PLEDGED FOR S. A. JUNIOR CHAMBER TOUR

Booster Body Expects to Obtain About 25 More Cars for Trip

ITINERARY FOR JAUNT IS TOLD

Santa Ana Municipal Band May Be Taken on Motor Journey

More than 50 cars already have been pledged for the first annual "Friendship Tour" of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which will be held on Wednesday, September 9. Twenty-five or 30 more cars are expected to be entered before the date of the tour.

Reports of all committees were made at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the board of directors, held yesterday noon in Ketner's cafe. The music committee reported that efforts were being made to take the municipal band on the trip and a final report is expected within the next few days.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the tourists from Orange county will meet with the Riverside Rotary club at noon. The president of the Santa Ana Rotary club, T. E. Stephenson, will accompany the Junior Chamber boys and will open the meeting at Riverside, introducing the president of the chamber. The entire program will be put on by the Santa Ana visitors.

Lions Quartet to Sing

The Lions quartet will be sent by the Santa Ana Lions club and will sing at every stop and also at the Riverside meeting. A jazz orchestra, to furnish music en route, will occupy another car.

In order that there will be no mishaps, red pennants with "Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce" inscribed on them, will be used as signals. Each car will carry one of these pennants and when a stop is to be made the red flags will be flashed along the entire caravan.

It is expected that between 250 and 300 Santa Anans will make the trip, which will start from St. Ann's inn at 9 o'clock in the morning. Those making the trip will report at St. Ann's inn at 8:30 o'clock and numbers will be assigned each car. The cars will take positions in the procession corresponding with their numbers. These positions will be maintained throughout the entire day.

Route to Be Followed

Here is the list of cities to be visited, together with the time of arrival and departure:

MAYOR OF SANTA ANA DONS WILD WEST HAT TO BOOST COUNTY FAIR

Tubbs Wears Cowboy Five-Gallon Sombrero to Advertise Show

Boost the fair.

That is exactly what Mayor John W. Tubbs said he would do when he was presented with one of the "five-gallon" hats yesterday by Bud Hoyle, of the Spencer Collins Men's store, who is seen in the picture giving the mayor one of the cowboy lids.

Spencer Collins has always been a booster for Orange county and Orange county affairs, and when the hat craze swept Santa Ana, as a means of advertising the "biggest and best of all," he immediately ordered a number of the big hats to sell to local boosters.

"If I could boost the fair any more by wearing two hats, I'd try to get them on," Mayor Tubbs said, just as the little picture in the corner was snapped by a Register photographer.

LOCAL LEGION HAS MEN FOR STATE OFFICE

Orange county posts of the American Legion will have candidates from this county to offer to the state convention, which convenes on September 15, at Catalina island, to fill state offices for the next year, and where no local man has been approved, the local members have been asked to support Southern California candidates.

Wilbur Getty, commander of Post No. 131, the Santa Ana post, is being boosted for executive committeeman, while Franklin "Brick" Grouard, member of the local post, has been approved for the office of state sergeant-at-arms.

Indorsement of the candidates was made here last week, when a caucus of all posts in the eleventh district was held in Santa Ana.

For state commander, Phil Dodson, of South Pasadena, has been recommended by the local organization, while William Cromas, of San Bernardino, has been indorsed for executive committeeman and Maurice Enderle for delegate to the American Legion national convention, to be held in Omaha.

WOOD SILENT ON ELECTION PLANS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1.—Reports that Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, will be a candidate for governor at the 1926 general election were classed as "vastly exaggerated" by Wood.

A Sacramento paper published the report of Wood's probable candidacy as coming from an "authoritative source."

In his statement, Wood said:

"I have told no one what plans I have for the future and have entered into no agreement of any kind concerning the campaign of 1926. I am attending to the business of my office and letting the future take care of itself."

BAR ASSOCIATION MEETS IN DETROIT

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 1.—The vanguard of 2500 of the nation's foremost representatives of the legal profession was trickling into Detroit today to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar association, to be held here Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Charles Evans Hughes, former secretary of state, and president of the association, will open the sessions Wednesday with an address upon the "Declaration of Independence," which will be broadcast.

Other important figures to speak during the week include Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg; Attorney General John G. Sargent; Lord Buckmaster, former lord chancellor of England; Maitre Manuel Fourcarde, batonnioer of the Paris bar; George W. Wickersham, of New York, former attorney general, and Silas H. Strawn, of Chicago.

Securing of additional legislation by congress to increase a taxpayer exemption in the compilation of his income will be recommended by the taxation committee, it is understood.

Legislation, fostering and regulating aeronautics, substantially set forth in a bill introduced by Representative Winslow will be favored by the aeronautics committee which will quote Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chief of the air service, saying that the United States is the only great nation without laws regulating flying and protecting its own people.

SANTA BARBARA RELIEF DRIVE PLANS ADOPTED

Tentative plans of organization and details of an intensive house-to-house drive for the Santa Barbara relief fund were completed at a conference of the executive committee and representatives of the various service clubs and civic organizations, held yesterday afternoon in the chamber of commerce offices.

Friday, September 11, to be known as "Santa Barbara day," was selected for the drive, which will include a city-wide house-to-house canvass by voluntary workers drawn from the various service clubs.

W. C. Jerome, county auditor chairman of the executive committee, presided over yesterday's meeting. Other members of the executive committee present were Stanley Clem, president of the junior chamber of commerce, and A. L. Oliger, secretary of the senior chamber of commerce.

Representatives At Meeting

Others present, representing service clubs and civic organizations, were: T. E. Stephenson, Rotary club; O. H. Egge, Lions club; C. E. Camm, Knights of the Round Table, P. S. Lucas, Merchants and Manufacturers association; Mrs. S. W. Stanley, Santa Ana Ebell club; Mrs. W. R. Fine, Santa Ana City Federation of P.-T. A., and Dr. Wilbert H. McPeak, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, representing the Santa Ana Ministerial association.

Explaining the purpose of the meeting, Chairman Jerome said that the chamber of commerce, charged with handling the campaign, would be forced to enlist the services of the various service clubs, which organizations, he hoped, would furnish the necessary number of volunteer workers.

Adopt Canvass Plan

After discussing various plans for raising the city's quota of $7000, it was decided to adopt a house-to-house canvass by volunteer workers.

It also was announced that volunteer workers, not identified with any service organization, may turn in their names to Secretary A. L. Oliger, chamber of commerce, who is manager of the campaign.

Explaining the need of the drive, Secretary Oliger said that the money raised in Santa Ana will be used in reconstruction and repairs to hospitals, orphanages, charitable organizations, emergency health and sanitation work, and for temporary schools.

CLAIMS STATE NEED NOT FEAR FLORIDA BOOM

Santa Ana Realtor Says Easterners Are Realizing True State of Affairs

California has nothing to fear from Florida in way of competition for home seekers and tourists. This is the optimistic opinion of A. B. Rousselle, well known local real estate man and subdivider, who has made a study of the subject in conection with his business interests.

Rousselle returned a few weeks ago from an extended tour around the world. On his way home, he stopped over in New York, where he had occasion to discuss the Florida situation with prominent bankers and business men.

Has Reached Zenith

Wihtout belittling the present real estate boom in the peninsula state, Rousselle believes that it has reached its zenith point with inflated values, and will soon be on the toboggan slide.

Because of recent tax reforms, including abolition of state income and state inheritance tax, it was only natural that millionaires, seking tax exemption, should flock to Florida, he declared, discussing the situation. The asserted beneficial effects of these tax measures were advertised to the four corners of the world, and in a way to attract people of moderate means. These people, hoping to escape the inharitance tax in their own state, followed in the wake of the millionaires.

Not All-Year Climate

While the climatic conditions of Florida may suit the peculiar requirements of millionaires, seeking to establish residence for tax purposes, leaving them at liberty to speind the off season in more desirable climes, it is doubtful whether they have come up to the expectations of the great number of eastern and middle western farmers and retired merchants who looked for an all-year climate, Rousselle commented.

He added that his observations in the premises coincided with those of prominent business men, who, attracted by the wide publicity given the Florida boom, went down to investigate and see for themselves.

These men, many of them having spent the winters in California, came back as boosters for California. According to Rousselle, they agreed that Florida was the ideal playground for rich folk, seeking to escape the rigors of eastern winters, but no place for retired persons of limited means.

Believe California Best

These men pointed out to the Santa Ana real estate man that while Florida has nothing to offer but winter climate, California has an incomparable all-year climate, plus scene beauty, wonderful development, including automobile roads, educational facilities second to none in the nation, and every other agency comprising desirable living conditions.

In conclusion, Rousselle declared that while the inheritance tax may be a sore point with many easterners and middle western persons planning to come to California, it is not of sufficient importance to divert the travel.

GIANT CIRCUS ELEPHANTS ARE FOND OF GUM DROPS

PREVENTORIUM CAMP TO CLOSE SEPTEMBER 7

September 7 is the date set for the closing of the Orange county preventorium camp for the summer of 1925, according to announcement today.

At present 30 girls are in the camp. They are finishing a six-week stay. This period was preceded by six weeks in which 30 boys were in camp. Both boys and girls have shown much improvement in the general upbuilding of their bodies, dispositions and mental training, it is asserted.

Mrs. Amelia A. Meagher, who is in charge of tuberculosis preventive work in Orange county, has been in camp with both the boys and girls. She has a staff of two teachers and two cooks.

The children have enjoyed the camp throughout the summer and much entertainment has been given them, it was said. Last Sunday afternoon the campers were taken to view the mission play at San Juan Capistrano. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Leive, Anaheim, conducted Sunday school services in the camp, Sunday morning.

Performers Are Fond of Scratching Ears of Huge Beasts

There are 43 elephants with the Ringling Brothers and Barum and Bailey circus, which will exhibit here Thursday, Sept. 17. Of that number, not a one but has some performer who is particularly fond of scratching his ears and feeding him sweetmeats. As for the dozen baby elephants, their admirers run into the scores and George Denman, boss of the entire herd, has recently been obliged to forbid them having candy.

"It was getting so they simply turned up their trunks a anything like bran and hay," says Denman.

MAUD CREW REVELS IN WELCOME MAIL

NOME, Alaska, Sept. 1.—Members of the crew of the Amundsen ship Maud, just returned after being locked in the arctic ice for three years, are reveling in the first mail from home received since they headed out on their adventure.

The steamer Victoria arrived here Sunday from Seattle with letters from relatives of the Maud's six explorers and work of discharging the vessel's cargo of arctic provisions was halted while the welcome missives were read.

The Maud expects to sail for San Francisco today, the voyage taking about 20 days. The vessel will be placed officially in charge of the Norwegian consul at San Francisco for the Norwegian court of bankruptcy.

At San Francisco, all data on the polar trip will be shipped to Norway, according to Captain Westing, while the instruments loaned by the Carnegie institute will be returned.

The Maud, Captain Westing believes, will not be returned to Norway. The dogs aboard the ship, which were also with Amundsen on his trip to the south pole, will be taken to Oslo, Norway, as will be the piece of keel, 15 feet long, torn from the Maud when she was nearly wrecked by arctic ice.

Vineyardists Will Go to Australia

REDDING, Calif., Sept. 1.—Verne Bergen, expert vineyardist, of this city, will sail early in January to assume charge of the 15,000-acre property of the Australian Vineyard company.

Bergen has contracted to manage the Australian property for five years, he said.

The vineyardist formerly was in charge of large grape growing properties in Fresno and Kern counties.

YOUNG SOUNDS KEYNOTE WHEN HE SPEAKS TO FARM BUREAU

Lieutenant Governor Believed to Be Candidate For Gubernatorial Job

EXPECTED TO SEEK G. O. P. NOMINATION

Examines Year's Legislation in California Along Lines of Agriculture

(Special to the Register)

STOCKTON, Sept. 1.—As Lt.-Gov. C. C. Young, of Berkeley, is most probably, if not certainly, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, it is generally believed that his address before the farm bureau of San Joaquin county, here Saturday afternoon, sounds the keynote of his campaign.

The lieutenant governor spoke in substance as follows:

"In considering our subject, let us begin by examining briefly into this year's legislation along agricultural lines. I should first like to say a word about the committee on agriculture, whose especial duty it was to scrutinize the measures in which you are interested; for, as is true in every legislative body, it is the painstaking work in the committee room which makes for good legislation, rather than the debates upon the floor.

Legislative Bills

"The senate committee on agriculture this year was one of the most capable committees I have ever known. It consisted of 12 members, most of them with practical knowledge concerning agricultural affairs, and all of them intensely interested in the careful consideration of every bill pertaining to the subject. The committee met every Monday evening, often in session till late at night, and always with a practically full attendance. It considered a total of 75 agriculture and livestock bills, and of these, 44 were passed by both houses and presented to the governor. I have examined each of these 44 bills very carefully, and I believe that almost without exception they were good measures and would have made wise changes in existing law. They passed careful scrutiny of the agricultural committees of both houses, and yet the governor, in his wisdom, vetoed no less than 25 out of the 44.

"I confess that, after a pretty careful study of these bills, I cannot for the life of me see why many of the vetoes were made, but I presume the governor would say that this merely proves my lack of insight. I have heard unkind critics of the governor suggest that his method was seemingly to throw a handfull of bills into the air, and sign those which fell face upward, but I am unwilling to believe this was his actual procedure. If this had been done, however, I am sure it would explain a good many things to the members of other hard-working legislative committees, as well as to the people of this and other communities, who could then only lament because so many of their important measures happened to fall face down.

Farmer Legislation

"The interest of the recent legislature in the problems of agri-

Slow —And it Hurts

Orange County Distributor for Diamond Tires

Yes, there has been an increase in tire prices. And the increase hurts! But it doesn't hurt as much as you think and there is no general cause for calling out the militia. The great majority of sizes carries so small an increase that the slap on the pocketbook is negligible. Then, too, the auto situation is flush and an increase simply followed the law of supply and demand.

And, if you get Diamonds your mileage will erase every vestige of any buying remorse.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

WALKER—Orpheum vaudeville (five acts) and "The Timber Wolf" with Buck Jones.

WEST END—"The Lost World," with Wallace Beery, Lewis Stone, Bessie Love and Lloyd Hughes.

Yost—Vaudeville (five acts) and "Lost-a-Wife," with Adolphe Menjou and Greta Nissen.

WEST END THEATER

They broke the news to Wallace Beery by letter—no one had the nerve to tell him personally—that he had to have his hair curled for his role in Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's "The Lost World," the photoplay now at the West End theater.

Beery plays the part of Prof. Challenger, an eccentric scientist of fearsome appearance with bushy beard and whiskers. Since his hair is not naturally curly and he would not wear a wig in summer—not Wallace—a curling iron was the only way out.

From all indications any of the cast calling the crepe whiskered heavy "Curly" had a fight on their hands.

YOST THEATER

A brilliant company of six graceful girls comprises the Elida Ballet, one of the most sensational dance offerings in vaudeville and which heads tonight's five-act program at the Yost theater. The program they deliver runs the entire gamut of terpsichore. While several names are featured in the billing it would be an injustice to classify them as principals and the rest as subordinates for every member of the company contributes generously to the success of the production. Special mention however, must be made of Adele Jeanne, the premier danseuse, who contributes some sensational Oriental numbers.

The act opens with a doll bandit introducing stolen dolls and as the curtain rises the Dutch, Sailor, Soldier, French and Raggedy Ann dolls are shown, and they go right into a mechanical doll dance. Then a second number which consists of both song and dance takes the old fashioned nursery rhymes and puts them to the syncopated steps of the modern jazz. It is in this number that Miss Jeanne is introduced in her spectacular Oriental dance followed by ensemble and solo dances, jazz and eccentric, in the "Land of Jazz." The act displays a lot of special scenery and many wonderful costumes.

Arnold and Florence, from the English Music Hall do a lot of balancing, a little dancing and some comedy. Arnold will prove one of the best balancers seen at the Yost theater in months and Miss Florence steps about rather lively and contributes some real comedy stuff.

Trout and Heff, two men who call themselves "Two Black Spasms" are a sure cure for the blues. They have style and mannerisms all their own and intermingling their special comedy songs make the turn one of the best two men blackface acts on the road. They indulge in the low brow type of colored comedy and sing special comedy songs that are distinctly original and humorous.

The making of smoke pictures has reached the stage of perfection where the art is more interesting than the old style of making pictures with crayons or paint. Stuart Darrow is deservedly reckoned the foremost artist in this line. His latest and original novelty is to cover two large enamel plates with smoke, and pictures are produced by rubbing out the background.

Kingston and Ebner will be on tap with a live wire line of chatter and songs. The two are a pair of fine steppers with a lot of high powered and whirlwind action.

WALKER'S THEATER.

This week's Orpheum circuit vaudeville program at Walker's theater is a veritable five-ring circus, a million dollar circus, too, and there is never a want of diversity.

Saranoff, who reminds much of Eddie Lambert in his massacration of the English language, heads the bill with his own company which plays in conjunction with Rose and Arthur Boylan. The act, a sort of musical comedy revue, is billed as "Tenk You," a piece spoken not once but often during the proceedings by the inimitable Saranoff who is a violinist of exceptional talent as well as a comedian of ability.

The Boylans specialize in dances and tell stories, their most worthy offering being probably a Chinese number.

Edward Heffe, with Saranoff, has a voice most pleasing to the ear and the Meryl sisters won't put you to sleep when they dance.

With a good many new songs and an amusing musical satire on "Rain," Ann Greenway, youthful and beautiful vaudeville star, comes back to us with all her enchantment. Miss Greenway has a magnetic personality and she puts over her work with a punch.

Jerry Jarnigan is a pianist of more than ordinary ability and he has made a wise selection of the numbers he plays. He offers enough heavy and enough light stuff to please the most fastidious.

Assisted by a couple of urchins from the audience, Nate Liepsig offers and altogether amusing but mystifying 20-minutes with his manipulations of the jacks and aces. Liepsig is one card "shark" who is most entertaining.

Just about the best act on the bill, whether it's first or not, is offered by Bert Ford and Pauline Price, acrobatic wireists. Their toil requires the utmost in skill and grace and Ford and Miss Price have that and a lot more.

On the screen, Walker's offers Buck Jones in a typical ripsnorting thriller entitled, "The Timber Wolf." Its good if you like Jones' type of pictures.

LOSS IN HUGE COMPANY MAY BE RESTORED

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 1.—The shattered dream of Josiah Kirby, "super-salesman" and advocate of "personality plus," may come to life in revised form.

It has been announced that the Cleveland Discount company, which was built up by Kirby, its former president, from a capital of $6.25 to one of an acclaimed $31,000,000, may be reorganized by October 1.

The company crashed into receivership nearly two years ago after the failure of Kirby's schemes for selling "safe and reliable" mortgages to investors from Los Angeles to New York.

Following the crash Kirby was indicted in federal court here on charges of using the mails to defraud and in the state courts on charges of making false financial statements. On two of the indictments the jury disagreed and was discharged. He is to go to trial in federal court October 6.

Plan or Reorganization

The date of the reorganization of the company depends, however, on whether more creditors' suits, now not foreseen, are filed, according to the receivers. But more than 95 per cent of the stockholders and creditors have agreed to reorganization plans which would permit bondholders to keep their bonds, creditors of the company to receive new preferred stock and preferred stockholders to receive new common stock.

The reorganization plan was first presented to the creditors and stockholders last October and, since that time, more than 500 creditors' suits have been filed and millions of dollars have been saved through the suits, according to the receivers.

Offices Throughout U. S.

The Cleveland Discount company was incorporated in December, 1918. It grew rapidly and in less than one year it had branch offices in Canton, Dayton, Akron, Columbus and Cincinnati. Before it was two years old it had established offices in New York, Los Angeles, Baltimore, Albany, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

But in a few months the "supersalesmen" with irresistible arguments Kirby had sent out into many states to sell the company's stock began to be called in. And soon the offices in the massive and beautiful stone office building began to be without stenographers.

Then the crash which was felt by discount stockholders from coast to coast came and the company went into receivership.

GOTHAM THRONG CHEERS BANISHED BABE

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Plenty of activity on the ivory market is predicted during the off-season this winter when nearly every team in the major leagues will be going through a process of re-organization.

With the exception of the New York Giants, the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Philadelphia Athletics, every team in the two big leagues will have to be reorganized this winter if they are to figure at all in the 1926 pennant races.

The Pirates and the Athletics are well fixed with good young players, but the Giants have several veterans that need replacement. McGraw needs a good utility infielder, a young catcher and some new pitchers although he has in Kent Greenfield and Fred Fitzsimmons two of the best looking pitching prospects in the league.

The Brooklyn Robins need pitchers and a third baseman but the club has very little trading material and may have to depend upon youngsters picked up from the minors.

The champion Washington Senators need young pitchers and a utility shortstop. The club has been very active all season buying up players in the minor leagues and Bucky Harris may have the good fortune to find the players to bolster up the team for another race.

The New York Yankees will have to be rebuilt almost entirely to get back as a contender in the race. The club already has spent more than $200,000 for young players and Col. Ruppert hasn't pulled the strings on the money bag.

Of all the players on the team only Ruth, Hoyt, Jones, Pennock, Dugan, Meusel, Gehrig, Combs and Hengough are sure of their jobs next season.

The Cincinnati Reds could use a first baseman and they are badly in need of hitting strength. Hitless wonders have won pennants in the past but in this modern game even the best of pitching needs some stick suport.

The Detroit Tigers also will be out through the renovating process. Ty Cobb is said to have confided in friends that Heinie Manush is the only player on the team who is sure of his job next year. The Tigers have an abundance of trading material and Cobb ought to be able to get almost what he wants in the market.

Tony Fuente, who started his boxing career under the name of Kid Chine and found that foreign names and titles were more in demand by American boxing fans is to be served up to Jim Maloney, the pride of Boston, on Labor Day, in the Hub.

It goes without saying that the Irishman will get the verdict. One wonders how the strict and stern Massachusetts boxing commission came to permit Fuente to show himself in the commonwealth. He is a self-confessed and convicted baiter of bouts.

His fights with Fred Fulton at Culver City and against Nick Newman in Arizona got him in very bad with the fans out here. Maybe he will try to do better in New England.

It is difficult to see where Maloney can gain any prestige by beating Fuente. He had a chance to prove his worth in New York recently but his demands were too high.

But Tex Rickard has it in mind to use the Irishman this winter when his new Madison Square Garden is opened. He will have a chance thus to gain increased reputation and add largely to his bank account. But fighting against such men as Fuente will not serve to help him much in the eyes of the boxing patrons of the Metropolis.

RUTH IS STILL HERO TO N. Y. DIAMOND FANS

Ex-Swat Star Will Discuss Suspension with Owner Of New York Yank Club

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Babe Ruth arrived in New York today, supposedly in disgrace, but was accorded the same "Babe Ruth reception," he has received many times in the past.

Throngs gathered around him at the station and cheered him as he passed through.

Finally the crowd grew so large that he was forced to fight his way to a taxi in which he left for his hotel. The last few feet of the walk through the station were only accomplished by means of his friends getting behind the "Beb" and shoving him.

The Babe reiterated his intention of pleading his case before Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, demanding remission of the $5000 fine and withdrawal of the suspension which Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, gave him.

"It is all up to Jake," Ruth said. "Huggins has him 'bulled' but I think when Jake hears my story everything will be all right. Huggins handed me a dirty deal in this suspension and fine. He simply made me the goat for the poor showing of the Yankees this season, and I am going to fight for my rights."

Ruth went to Chicago from St. Louis determined to place his grievance before Commissioner Landis, but he left just as he came—a suspended former home run king, with a $5000 fine plastered on him by Huggins last Saturday still sticking.

Landis was at his summer home in Burt Lake, Mich., but said over long distance telephone that Ruth could come to the Michigan resort if he wished. But Ruth was advised that under the rules the commissioner had no jurisdiction in this case for 10 days, so he decided to hurry to New York.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL HEAD TO TALK WITH BABE

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 1.—Brother Paul, provincial of the Xavierian brothers, who was head of St. Mary's Industrial school when Babe Ruth was there, is going to New York in a few days for a talk with his former charge.

"I feel sure that when I tell him about the effect of his conduct on the boys in school here it will do more than anything else to straighten him out," he said. "He is the idol of all the boys here and they have been depressed ever since they heard that their hero had fallen from grace."

Cuban Pitcher Has Big Year; Defeats Giants Repeatedly

ADOLF LUQUE

Two years ago Adolfo Luque, Cincinnati pitcher, was the leading moundsman of the National league. Last season he was able to win but a few more games than he lost. The Cuban came back strong this year, however, and again is one of the foremost twirlers in the circuit. His hobby has been beating the New York Giants.

TUFFY TYRRELL SENT BY TULSA TO MUSKOGEE

As a "reward" for hitting well over the .300 mark and leading his team in fielding, Hillard ("Tuffy") Tyrrell, well known Santa Ana baseball player, has been shipped by the Tulsa club of the Western league to Muskogee in the Western association.

The news was a surprise to baseball followers here for Tyrrell had been crashing the ball hard for Tulsa and his fielding had been all that could be asked. His ability to catch and play any position in the infield or outfield also added to his value.

He was turned over to Muskogee for Guy Sturdy, first baseman, who formerly was with Tulsa and who suffered a broken leg in spring training and then had Tyrrell beat him out of his job at the initial corner.

"I guess if I had hit .400 and fielded perfectly through the season I would have been released altogether," Tyrrell writes the sporting editor of The Register. "I certainly thought I had made good. I was hitting third highest on the club with a mark well over .300 and was leading all the boys in fielding so you can imagine what a shock it was to have them inform me I was being sent out to Muskogee.

"Muskogee is leading the Western association by a narrow margin. This is a pretty fast little league at that and they get some fine crowds so I guess we'll be able to stand it a few more weeks. I presume I'll report back to Tulsa at the close of this league which isn't very far away now."

Tyrrell said he figured to return to Santa Ana early in October.

The baseball championship of the Union Printers' International League has been won for three consecutive years by the Washington, D. C., team. This year's tournament of the league is to be held in the national capital the week of August 22.

GERTRUDE WEEPS AS CHANNEL SWIM TEST ENDS IN FAILURE

Beaten by the icy waves of the English Channel, Miss Gertrude Ederle, American girl swimmer, was forced to give up with the English shore in sight. This shows Miss Ederle just after she was taken from the water, comforted over her failure by Mme. Sion, the French swimmer who accompanied her.

BILLY EVANS Says

LIKE PANTOMIME

Baseball fans are quick to appreciate good pantomime. That is why Al Schact and Nick Altrock are such a hit.

However, I doubt if Schact and Altrock ever pulled off a better bit of baseball burlesque than a recent incident at the Yankee stadium, which featured Ray Schalk of the Chicago White Sox, Aaron Ward of the Yanks, and Umpire Tommy Connolly.

I was umpiring with Connolly at the time and I never saw a bit of pantomime pulled by the two clowns of baseball that went over any bigger than this bit of unrehearsed comedy. I'll wager some of the fans present are still getting a kick out of the happening.

Ward was the first man up to start the inning. The first ball pitched was fouled off. The next ball pitched was called a ball by Umpire Connolly.

Catcher Schalk thought it was good enough to be a strike. He didn't say a word but stepped in front of the batter, removed his cap and dusted off the home plate.

THE LAST LAUGH

The next pitch was called a strike but player Ward thought it too low. He said nothing, but to let Umpire Connolly know that he disagreed, he removed his cap and dusted off the plate.

Schalk's stunt in dusting off the plate got a fair laugh. Ward's act went over much bigger. The crowd was enjoying Connolly's apparent discomfiture.

The next pitch was a very bad ball, high and outside. Ward took a wild swing at it, missing it a foot.

Now umpires never use their caps to clean the home plate but Connolly sensing the big chance, removed same and dusted off the plate even more carefully than his predecessors.

The crowd was in an uproar at the turn of events that gave the umpire the upper hand, and even Ward laughed as he walked to the bench after striking out.

OFFERS APOLOGY

Connolly, dean of the American league staff, is unusual among umpires. Despite the fact that he has seen 30 years of service, he still retains a sense of humor that helps him over many tough spots.

When Ed Walsh, famous White Sox pitcher, was in his prime, he gave an umpire a day's work any time he pitched. Walsh had remarkable control, could keep his snitball at the knee throughout the game.

The low ball is the tough one for the umpire. Most of Walsh's pitches were just strikes or balls by the narrowest of margins.

Walsh was of the opinion that he threw nothing but strikes, so naturally he was displeased any time the umpire ruled any of his efforts a ball.

Well do I recall a game at the old White Sox park, in which Connolly, after having Walsh dispute a number of his rulings, stopped the game, removed his cap, turned to the grandstand, and in a tone that could be heard all over the park, yelled:

"Ladies and gentlemen: I want to apologize to you for not knowing that Mr. Walsh throws nothing but strikes." That ended the kicking for the rest of the afternoon.

SENATORS AND MACKS BATTLE FOR A. L. FLAG

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Connie Mack's baby Athletics and Bucky Harris' battle worn veterans of the Washington Senators had the capital all worked up here again today as they prepared for the first of the "little world series games" that will decide the American league pennant.

There will be no milling around the street and fighting for tickets as there were just a year ago when the city was in a frenzy over its first championship team, but what was lost in action was made up in conversation.

While only two games are to be played in this current series, today and tomorrow, the managers of the two teams and the experts figure that the Senators could get a strangle hold on the pennant by winning the two games.

The Senators are now 3 1-2 games ahead of the Athletics and two victories would not only increase their lead to 5 1-2 games but it would demoralize the young Philadelphia team that already has shown signs of cracking under the strain.

In the hectic mid-season drive the Philadelphia Athletics made to hold first place in the race for the American league pennant, the magnificent fighting heart of an inspired young club was one of the outstanding features of an interesting baseball year.

Connie Mack is quite sure that his Athletics are going to win the American league pennant this year. Wise old veteran that he is, he knew that every team must have a slump but he has been encouraged by the way his youngsters snapped out of it when it looked like they were cracking and the gallery was shouting—"There they go, I told you!"

S. A. HUNTERS FARE FORTH AFTER DOVES

Sunrise this morning was a signal for scores of local hunters to open up a fire with their shotguns which rivaled the thunder of war days. The cause for the loud demonstration was the opening of the dove season and Orange county sportsmen turned out en masse to kill the beautifully feathered bird.

Many returned to their homes a few hours later laden down with limits.

EDDIE HUFFMAN TO BATTLE STRIBLING

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—"You can't keep a good man down," is brought home forcibly with an announcement that Dick Donald had signed young Stribling, the Georgia schoolboy sensation, to meet Eddie Huffman, pride of the coast, in a 10 round main event at Ascot in October.

Donald has lost money on his first two outdoor events at Ascot and smart boxing men predict this show will take him out of red ink.

For a semi-windup George Godfrey meets Bartley Madden, while Fidel La Barba, world's flyweight champion, tackles either "Clever" Sencio, Filipino groomed for the late Pancho Villa's title, or Bud Taylor.

Ascot will be remodeled to seat 50,000 persons, and $1 to $10 prices will prevail. A gate of over $150,000 is predicted.

P. E.'s to Meet Post Office In 'B' Title Game

Needing a victory to cinch its claim to the Santa Ana Class B Indoor Baseball league championship, the Pacific Electric team is scheduled to meet the Santa Ana Post Office at Poly field tonight. After this engagement, the Motormen will clash with Tustin, one of the runners-up for the junior circuit rag.

The first game of the series between the Southern Counties Gas company, the Excelsior Creamery company and the O. A. Haleys will be played Thursday night, Sid Allender, secretary of the league, announced.

GIRL TENNIS QUEEN SHUNS RECEPTIONS PLANNED BY SOROITY SISTERS AT U. C.

BERKELEY, Sept. 1.—Miss Helen Wills, national woman's tennis champion and one of the University of California's most distinguished students, returned to her classes today, continuing her art course and other third year subjects.

Greeted by her fellow students with acclaim, Miss Wills shunned receptions planned for her, preferring to be just one of the many thousand students at the university.

A crowd of sorority sisters met her when she arrived yesterday from the east, after having won permanent possession of the women's singles cup by virtue of her third consecutive victory as well as the doubles championship, paired with Mary K. Browne of Santa Monica.

Miss Wills will play in the California state championship starting here Saturday, and during the winter will keep in form by daily practice on local courts.

Portland Youngster Hailed As Season's Find in Coast Loop

Willie Hunnefield, Portland youngster, is being hailed by sport writers as the best new prospect seen in the Pacific Coast league this season. Some claim he shines in the outfield while others think his place is at short—but wherever he is, he'll bear watching.

BOWLING

REGISTER TEAM CONQUERS BROADWAY BOWLERS

The Register's Mercantile league bowling quintette from the A. and B. alleys buried the Broadway academy five by 202 pins in a match game on the Broadway alleys last night. The Scribes had their big advantage when they gathered 988 pins. The first and third contests were closer.

Max Ames had high individual game of 237 and garnered 637 pins for his evening's totals. Norm Walker had two games above 200 and totaled 570. Mitchell led the Broadway rollers with a 525 series. Fred Robertson had a 205 game.

The same teams will clash at the A. and B. alleys next week in the second half of the home and home series. The scores:

HERRING, O'CONNELL TO MIX AT VERNON

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—A well rounded card at the Vernon coliseum offers a variety of styles and new faces. Red Herring, good enough to beat Pinky Mitchell for the world's junior welterweight title, takes on Charlie O'Connell, Cleveland protege of Johnny Kilbane, in a ten round main event.

O'Connell has had all but one or two of the contemporary crop of lightweights on the floor, on various occasions. He is said to have the heaviest punch in the division. Herring is making 135 pounds for this bout.

Frank Muskie, St. Paul light heavyweight, who made himself solid on the coast by "kissing off" Lou Rollinger recently, meets Fred Cullen in the six round main event.

SACS, TIGERS OPEN CELLAR TITLE PLAY

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—Sacramento and Vernon will start a nine game series for the cellar championship at Washington park today.

Four members of the Vernon club are on the sick list, Clyde Barfoot, star pitcher, being the latest addition. Fans are interested in the work of Patrick O'Shea, substitute shortstop for the Bengals, during the coming week. O'Shea has just jumped from the sand lots and played a few games last week. His nervousness gone, it is expected he will star frequently during the coming series.

WOMAN FAINTS AFTER JUDGE GIVES DECREE

Reaction from the strain of her legal battle for a divorce and custody of her three children proved too great for Mrs. Hazel Stone, of Garden Grove, and following her victory late yesterday she collapsed in the courtroom.

Mrs. Stone had just left the witness stand, where she defended herself against attacks upon her good name. She had been subjected to a grilling cross examination by Attorney A. E. Koepsel, counsel for her husband, Ira F. Stone.

Returning to her seat, she heard Judge E. J. Marks announce his decision, awarding her an interlocutory decree of divorce and custody of the children. Then she sank back in her seat, gasping, and friends rushed to her side as she fainted away. A physician was called from the county health department, across the corridor from the courtroom, and Mrs. Stone was revived.

The court ordered Stone to pay $50 a month for suport of the children. Stone failed to get custody of the children when his statement of his income and of his expenses convinced the court that he could not support the children, Judge Marks said.

Just before the court's decision was announced, Stone refused to go back and live with his wife.

"I've found out too much about her since we separated," he said.

Stone contested his wife's divorce proceedings, and accused her of infidelity. He named a certain bill collector as the "other man." He also told the court that his wife's stepfather had once attacked her, and that he was afraid to have his children at the stepfather's home.

FONTANA.—Entire crop of Fontana's 5200 acres handled through the Grape Growers' exchange, has been sold, Manager Charles W. Warble announced. Handled through a large San Francisco firm with eastern agencies, the Fontana crop will be shipped, as fast as picked, directly to the eastern auction markets, where arrangements have been completed for its disposition. It was stated that the first carloads of grapes to leave the San Bernardino valley this season left the Fontana district Monday. Harvesting of over 32,000 acres of fine wine grapes in this section is actively under way, and shipments have been made from Etiwanda and Cucamonga. Picking of the crop on Fontana's 5200 acres, slightly delayed, starts with full crews Monday.

EAGLE ROCK.—The two Eagle Rock newspapers, the Sentinel and the Reporter, have merged and will henceforth be known as The Eagle Rock Sentinel-Reporter. W. L. Miller, owner and editor of the Sentinel, has sold his entire interests to J. S. Daley and Sons, publishers of the Reporter. The announcement that W. L. Miller has retired from the newspaper and printing business occasioned not so much surprise as regret. It has been generally known that since Mr. Miller's serious illness of more than a year ago, and the subsequent breakdown suffered by Mrs. Miller, that they have wished to retire from active work in the newspaper field and devote their time to other interests.

COLTON.—The Colton Evening Courier has experienced a successful year and its owners and publishers recently decided that the growth of the field and the opportunity for service justified the addition of a better news report. Accordingly, Frank S. Hosfelt, owner and publisher, applied for membership in the greatest of all news gathering organizations, The Associated Press. The request has been granted.

LONG BEACH.—Entry of the Southern Pacific railroad company in the Pacific Coast lumber business through its Long Beach terminal now under construction was revealed here. Press dispatches from Washington announced the granting of authority by the interstate commerce commission to the railroad to operate a line of lumber steamers along the California and Mexican coasts. The steamers will be operated by the Albion Lumber company, which is controlled by the Southern Pacific, the dispatches said.

Effort to Kill Pet Seal Angers British Resort

PENZANCE, Eng., Sept. 1.—Penzance, one of England's fashionable summer resorts, is all worked up over an attempt someone has made to shoot a companionable seal known to the resorters as "Old Bill."

Old Bill seemed to have no fear of persons and played around with the swimmers and dove off the rocks with them to the great glee of everybody, the seal included.

Recently, however, Old Bill took to sleeping in the row boats moored alongside the piers. Nobody objected so long as he picked the larger rowboats. But soon he showed a preference for the smaller boats; they were easier to get into. On the other hand he always swamped his "bed" in getting out, and as Bill was restless and swam in his sleep a good deal, morning usually dawned on four or five swamped boats.

Finally someone got tired of bailing out Bill's bed every morning and took some pot-shots at him from the shore. The shooting, however, aroused a great outcry of protest on the part of the other resorters and Bill now sleeps—and swamps—where he pleases.

Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—While Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, whose department runs the Virgin islands, doesn't admit responsibility on its part for the deplorable conditions which Judge Lucius J. M. Malmin charges exist there, it's beyond anybody's power to deny truthfully that economically the islands' population has degenerated disgracefully since the United States took the group over from Denmark in 1917.

Comparative figures speak for themselves.

In 1919, before the effects of American rule had had time to make themselves fully felt, the islanders' exports to this country amounted to $2,276,512. Those for 1924 were $397,031.

That the decline was due to naval administration doesn't necessarily follow. To some extent it certainly doesn't follow.

The application of American laws to insular industries and trade have been to blame for the decay of the once busy, prosperous port of St. Thomas, the islands' metropolis, until today it seldom is visited except by a very semi-occasional navy transport.

Formerly the stopping place for the big ships of several lines, it is not now touched by one. Its commerce it almost wholly gone. It is difficult even to reach, or to leave, once there.

The legislation which wrought this ruin was not of the navy's making.

It was the work of a congress in Washington of whose members few can find the Virgin islands on the map, without hunting, and some of whom probably never heard of them.

The distant Danish government took an interest in the Virgin group and its people, shaped its policies in their interest and turned them over to the United States as a thriving colony. This country put them under the charge of a naval governor and forgot them—and the governor, too.

A colonial governor who's been forgotten, colony and all, by his home government is in a position to be arbitrary and oppressive in his little bailiwick if he likes. Human nature being what it is, it wouldn't be surprising if there had been occasional instances of this, not only in Guam, where there have been complaints of it for some time, but in the Virgin islands, too.

* * *

The recently disclosed "Executive Special Order No. 52" by one of the governors of Guam, which is governed by the navy much as the Virgin islands are, looks, for instance, like going pretty far for a community whose "individual rights and liberties" are supposed to be respected.

Here is the order:

"The practice of whistling is an entirely unnecessary and irritating noise which must be discontinued. It is therefore ordered and decreed that no person shall whistle within the limits of the city of Agana (Guam's capital). The penalty for a violation of this order shall be an executive fine not to exceed $5."

* * *

General Order No. 11, by another governor, is rather suggestive also—"Attention is hereby called to the fact that the natives of Guam are not 'damned dagoes' or 'niggers,' but law-abiding human beings who are as much entitled to courtesy, respect and protection of life and liberty in their homes as the best citizens of New York, Washington or any other home city."

An order very much to that governor's credit—but something must have happened to call it forth.

The truth is that the governors of the Virgin islands and Guam have much too free a hand. They may not abuse their authority, but if they do they're mighty unlikely to be called to account. The navy department's natural inclination is to defend its own officers, the administration's disposition is to defend its own navy department and neither congress nor the American people are interested.

FARM BUREAU HEARS YOUNG KEYNOTE TALK

culture is much like that I have noted in other sessions during the past 18 years. During this time we have seen the entire organization of our present highway system, which has entirely revolutionized conditions of the farmer's life, bringing him from his former enforced isolation into close contact with the schools, churches, stores, and places of amusement of his neighboring city. We have seen a new state policy inaugurated as to rural schools, and have granted a generous state aid to the poorer and sparsely populated districts, which has made possible longer school terms, better paid and better trained teachers, more efficient supervision, and the like—until now in many cases there is little to choose between our country and our city schools. Both of these former handicaps had their influence in decreasing our California rural population during the last 20 years from about half to less than a third the total number of her people; and their removal will do much toward reviving interest in a life upon the farm.

"But there is another problem, always most vexatious and trying one, for which some new solution must soon be found. I refer to the necessity for a more equitable division of the burden of taxation. You will remember that some three years ago it was loudly heralded that, under governmental dispensation, our taxes were going to be vastly reduced. My taxes haven't been reduced so that I can notice it. Have yours? As a matter of fact, the amount of taxes paid by the people of California is increasing year by year, and although the burden is great, the end does not yet appear in sight.

State Expenditures

"At the same time that these promises of tax reduction were made it was also heralded that there would be a corresponding reduction in state expenditures; that a reign of economy was to be ushered in which would put to shame the 'extravagances' of the former administration. Well, we have had several years of this so-called 'economy,' and it doesn't seem to have proved particularly economical. The actual and anticipated figures have now been furnished by the state controller's office, partly in a statement issued last week, and partly in an address made by the controller day before yesterday at a convention of the inheritance tax appraisers in San Bernardino.

"The actual facts are as follows: The last administration expended for all purposes a total of $79,700,000 during its first biennium and $115,450,000 during its second biennium, or $195,150,000 during its entire four years. The present administration spent $137,480,000 during its first biennium, and the controller estimates $179,000,000 as 'authorized expenditures' of the present biennium. The latter sum seems large to me, though the controller's figures have always been dependable. Reduce it by $9,000,000, however, to be absolutely conservative, and call the anticipated expenditures of the present biennium $170,000.000. This would mean an expenditure of $307,480,000 for the four years of this present administration, or an increase more than $112,000,000 over the last, by far the largest rate of increase in the history of the state.

"To be sure the fiercely vehement claims of previous 'extravagance' and present 'economy' are just as loud now as they were before the actual figures began to cast a little doubt as to their absolute accuracy. But as Abraham Lincoln once sagely remarked, 'You can fool all the people some of the time and some of the people all the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time.'

Taxation Problem

"Now, although there still appears to be a necessity and an opportunity for real economy in our government, it is also true that the necessary expenses for the schools, the highways, the institutions and governmental activities of our rapidly growing state are bound to present an extremely serious problem as far as taxation is concerned. It is a serious question as to just what modification must be made in our present tax system to enable it to stand the strain. Accordingly, I believe that a thorough investigation should speedily be made of all that is best in the tax systems of other states, with a view to the stabilizing of our own.

Agricultural Importance

"Thus I have tried to sketch a few of the things which our state government has done, and must yet do in the interests of the agriculturists. Moreover this is equally important to every one of us, whether his lot be cast in the country or the city. We in the cities have long since learned that our prosperity must always be in direct proportion to the prosperity of the country. That which is good for you is also bound to be good for us. Our interests are not opposed. They are, and must always be, identical.

"Moreover, this is especially true here in California, where agriculture is the great basic industry. There are in the United States over 3000 counties—3064, to be exact—and how do you suppose California's counties rank among these 3064 counties in the value of their agricultural and livestock products? The last federal census told the story on the basis of he previous year. Of the eight leading agricultural counties of the nation, five were in California. Of the four leading counties, three were California counties. The first was the ever marvelous county of Los Angeles, which, despite our tendency to think of it as largely made up of cities and city activities, actually overtops agriculturally the next highest county in the United States by nearly 30 per cent. And two of the four are in this wonderfully fertile valley—the counties of Fresno and San Joaquin.

"By these and a dozen other California counties ranking agriculturally above 3000 others of the nation, we have it impressed upon us that ours is a great agricultural state, a state whose resources have scarcely yet been tested, a state with almost infinite possibilities for growth. Any effort, therefore, which our state government can put forth in aid of our state's basic industry, the future will abundantly justify."

Financial and Market News

WALL ST. JOURNAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Prices in the main body of stocks turned generally downward under the leadership of American Can in late trading today, following early spurts in a number of special issues. Professional attempts to force liquidation attained some degree of success following the advance of call money to 4½ per cent, compared with the renewal rate of 4½ per cent.

Before the general list developed heaviness, brisk buying operations were staged in Pierce Arrow, Packard, Baldwin, American Locomotive, American Car and Foundary, Tobacco Products, United Cigar Stores and Chicago Pneumatic Tool.

However these demonstrations were checked by the heavy selling which broke out in the last hour and the market as a whole closed considerably below the day's best levels.

The market closed lower. Closing prices included:

U. S. Steel, 119⅜, off 1; Baldwin, 118½, up 2; American Can, 229, off 4½; Chrysler, 138½, off 2¼; Foundation, 132⅛, off 6⅜; General Electric, 319½, off 4½; General Motors, 87¾, off ⅝; Mack Truck, 209, off 6¼; North American, 57½, off ⅝; Packard, 38⅛, off ½; Pierce Arrow, 38½, off ⅜; Pan American B, 61, off ¼; Radio, 53⅜, up ⅜; Studebaker, 46, off 1⅛; White Motors, 95, off 1⅞; C. and O., 104, up ⅝; New York Central, 119, off 1; New Haven, 36, off ¾; Frisco 98¾, off 1¾; Seaboard 43⅞, off 1⅛; Southern Railway 104, off 1¼; A. T. and T. 140¼; Texas Company, 47; Electric Power, 31⅛.

Rockefeller Is Challenged To Game On Links

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—If John D. Rockefeller sr. is looking for competition at golf from a fellow who is a little older, and who has seen a bit more of life, Henry Clay Breckenridge, 93, Chicago, is ready to take him on at any time. Breckenridge plays golf here daily.

Six feet two inches in height, straight as a young sapling, with eyes that have lost none of their old fire, he figures he would have a fair chance of trimming Rockefeller even if the latter is six years younger.

Breckenridge attributes his long life and his youthful enthusiasms to a sound constitution and clean living. He smokes a pipe and cigars, and admits that he'd like a cigarette occasionally "if there was anything to them."

It would seem that old age is bred in the Green Mountains of Vermont, from whence Breckenridge came. His mother lived to be 95. His great grandfather fought there against the British in the battle of Bennington. Breckenridge was born there April 14, 1832, was educated in Ohio, and was an active merchant there until 1918, when he retired at the ripe young age of 86.

This youth of 93, when he is not beating himself at solitaire or playing golf, spends his time in reading. Solid stuff—the literature he devours, and his keen eyesight is unimpaired and his health is good. To quote him, "I've had neither an ache nor a pain since my ninety-third birthday."

There are four living members of Breckenridge's family. Edward P. Breckenridge is 84. He lives in Toledo, O. W. C. Breckenridge, 82, has a home in Hamilton, O., and a sister. Mrs. Breckenridge Gray, 91, lives in Norwalk, in the same state.

"I worked hard and constantly until I was 86. If there is any recipe for old age, 'hard work' is the answer," the veteran said.

"Bring on your young fellows like Rockefeller."

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Grain trade closed irregular on the Board of Trade here today. Wheat suffered fractional losses. Corn was up sharply, carrying oats with it. Bullish private figures buoyed up wheat and checked down turn on profit selling.

The market opened higher. On the top selling by commission houses caused a reaction. Fractionally under the previous close, the undertone strengthened and prices carried to the close at that level. Persistent buying by loading commission houses boosted corn.

Oats held within a narrow margin but averaged higher with corn.

Good packing house buying and some commission houses covering boosted provisions.

7 DRUNKS FINED IN POLICE COURT

Yesterday was "drunk" day in the Santa Ana police court. Seven persons, charged with the offense, were fined, the amounts running from $15 to $20.

Yesterday's drunk cases were the most numerous in more than a year, police records showed.

J. T. Allen and James McKeehan were fined $15 each; Bell Wilson and James Cravey, Los Angeles, were fined $50 each; D. Maloney, Joe Gilmore, H. F. Ely were fined $25 each.

The case against James Arvilla, also charged with being drunk, was dismissed.

Carl H. Seffington was fined $2 on a charge of parking between 2 and 5 a. m., and Peter Velohey was fined $3 on a charge of allowing his motor to run unattended.

One session of Congress requires from 200 to 400 gavels.

WILL SEARCH FOR BRANDED SAVAGE TRIBE

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 1.—The world's youngest explorer has left here to search for branded savages of Central and South America, whom, he believes, to be remnants of an ancient Asiatic Aryan race which migrated to this hemisphere in the dim past.

J. J. Bliss, 19, accompanied by a University of Minnesota student, will attempt to motor the entire distance. If he succeeds in reaching Ecuador by automobile it will be the first time the journey has been made overland. Bliss is taking dynamite with him to blast a way when the jungle becomes impenetratable by ordinary methods.

The Bliss theory of the origin of the tribes he is seeking, several members of whom he saw on a previous trip but whose villages he was unable to locate, is based partly on the ancient sign of the Swastika he saw branded on their faces.

It was this which led him to surmise they were the last remnants of Aryan tribes supreme in Asia in pre-historic times. The one tribe in Ecuador has the sign branded on the faces of its members. The Central American tribe uses the same sign on its pottery.

Bliss plans to bring back several members of the "lost race" if he is successful in discovering their villages. On a previous trip he encountered a number of the branded savages but was unable to trace them to their homes.

The region inhabited by the Central American tribe has been visited but once by white men, he says. According to an ancient legend a ship once penetrated an unexplored river between Nicaragua and Honduras but the members of the expedition were killed.

Despite the young explorer's earnestness his father considers the journey a "wild goose chase."

"I know nothing of the lost tribes but I think the boy is looking for a needle in a haystack," said the elder Bliss, after bidding his son good-bye. "He has always been a roamer. We have never been able to keep him at home. But if anyone can get through those jungles, he can."

9 THIEVES GIVEN DEATH SENTENCES

MOSCOW, Sept. 1.—The trial of 66 employes of the military economy warehouses, accused of theft, has ended with nine being sentenced to be shot and 22 being sentenced to imprisonment of from one to 10 years. The latter is the maximum term allowed in Russia.

Seven were reprimanded, three were placed on probation and 25 were acquitted.

The property of those convicted was confiscated.

SQUIRREL DRINKS SAP

EPPING, N. H.—A teacher and her pupils here have learned a bit of valuable history by observing a squirrel. The squirrel was seen playing in a maple tree near the schoolhouse, and a closer inspection revealed the fact that he had gnawed the under side of a limb, and hanging on by his forefeet, was sucking the sap that oozed out.

ATTORNEY WANTED IN S. A. ARRESTED

Attorneys representing B. R. Parrott, Los Angeles lawyer, accused of embezzlement, were expected to appear before Justice K. E. Morrison here this afternoon for arraignment proceedings.

Parrott was taken into custody in Los Angeles last night and was brought to Santa Ana. He posted a $5000 bond for his release, without having been booked in the county jail.

Embezzlement of $9000 is charged against Parrott in a complaint signed by G. G. Beckman, Orange rancher, representing a group of investors in the Pacific corporation, which was at one time under Parrott's control, it is said. The investors entrusted Parrott with the money to invest in the company, they allege. They claim that about $30,000 was involved in all.

HOW TO ANSWER BLIND CLASSIFIED ADS

In answering blind addresses (for instance, L, Box 36, Register, or other similar addresses), please be careful to use the precise address given in the ad. Write address plainly. Letters brought to The Register office do not require stamps. Always inclose your answer in sealed envelope.

T. F. (TILL FORBID) ADS

If an advertiser who has made application for credit and opened an account with The Register Credit Department in the regular form desires to have any "liner" advertisement published continuously "until further notice" he may do so by signing a "TF" order to that effect. An advertisement thus begun will appear regularly until countermanded by written order.

BOX OFFICE REPLIES

The Register postoffice department is conducted for the benefit of patrons who wish answers to come to the office. Advertisers are furnished with identification cards, which must be presented at The Register office. For the protection of our patrons, replies are not given out except on presentation of box card.

No record is kept of the names and addresses of patrons using The Register postoffice, and therefore no information concerning these advertisers can be supplied.

Want Ads

Telephone your Want Ads to The Register 87 or 88—when it is more convenient to do so and bill will be mailed the following day. This is an accommodation service rendered Register Want Ad patrons and payment should be made promptly on first presentation of bill. Bills for ads ordered more than one day are also payable on presentation—not at expiration of order.

Always ask that your ad be repeated back to you by the ad taker to make sure that it has been taken correctly. The egister assumes no responsibility for errors in telephoned ads.

The Register will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Errors not the fault of the advertiser will be adjusted by a free insertion, if such errors lessen the value of the ad. All claims for adjustment should be made within five days after insertion. No allowance will be made where the error does not materially affect the value of the ad.

In the case of Want Ads containing more than one item, adjustment will be made only on the item containing the error.

The Register reserves the right to classify Want Ads under proper headings.

Cancellation for an advertisement placed but not yet published will be taken, but cancellation cannot be guaranteed.

Ads set in the regular uniform Want Ad style without capitals or white space are computed by the line basis. The line rates appear at the top of the index.

Ads containing capital letters, display type or white space are computed by the line basis, 12 lines to the inch.

There is no Sunday edition. Advertisements received at the office before 11 a. m. will be classified in the evening edition.

WHO FOR U. S. SENATOR?

Just now, leaders in political activity in Southern California are giving a good deal of thought to candidacies for United States senator. With both senators now representing the state residents of San Francisco, the southern part of the state is justified in looking over the field with a view to electing a man from the south to succeed Senator Shortridge, who is a candidate for re-election. Senator Johnson's term has three years to run.

Recently there has been a good deal of talk favorable to the selection of Judge Robert M. Clarke of Los Angeles, former judge of the superior court of Ventura county, as the man to carry the south's standard against Shortridge. Judge Clarke's ability as a campaigner, his known integrity and standing as a private citizen and his experience in public life, together with his views on policies and principles, have commended him to many of those who are endeavoring to center activities upon one man. The reason for seeking to center activities on one man is that a division in this end of the state would better Senator Shortridge's chances for getting the Republican nomination. Should Shortridge be the only candidate from north of the Tehachepi, he could ask for nothing more than to have two or more candidates from this end of the state. His position in that regard is much the same as Governor Richardson's position in relation to the Republican nomination for governor. The more candidates there are against Richardson for the nomination, the better the governor will like the lay of the ground.

The senatorial situation in Southern California is somewhat complicated by the fact that Congressman Walter F. Lineberger of Long Beach has declared himself in the race to stay. While Lineberger did well enough as a congressman, to our mind he exhibited neither outstanding ability nor outstanding activity of a kind to warrant his candidacy. Though his home is within a five minute ride of the Orange county line, he is hardly known in this county. He is a stranger to our electorate. Moreover, his attitude toward the Boulder dam project has been neither vigorous nor satisfactory. Had he made a fight such as Congressman Swing made for this greatest of needs of the Southwest, he might be in a position to have his senatorial candidacy given something like widespread favor.

Incidentally, we might remark that no candidate for United States senator who tries to straddle or soft-pedal the Boulder dam project in order to placate the Los Angeles Times can hope for anything but a political trimming in Southern California.

California, with its innumerable interests and problems, ought to be represented at Washington by strong, forceful men. The selection of a United States senator for the coming six-year term is of great importance. It comprises a political project worthy of the best thought and attention of the entire electorate of this state.

British dancing circles are waiting for the Prince of Wales to give his approval to the Charleston before they accept it. If the unexpected should happen and he should disapprove, would his ardent admirers in this country stop dancing it?

A NEW IMMIGRANT PROBLEM

Immigrants from the British Isles have been landing with other passengers without going through Ellis Island. They are the first to come to this country under a new immigration plan which provides for their examination before they embark for the New World.

In most cases, it is a fine thing. It eliminates worry on the trip across because the prospective entrant is assured of his acceptibility to America. It also eliminates many of the inconveniences and discomforts of Ellis Island.

But there is another phase of the new method which needs further study to bring it to a happier solution. If the newcomers can speak our language and have friends awaiting them or definite plans for taking up their life in this country, all is well. But if they do not speak our language and if they are not met by friends at the dock, they will miss some of the services formerly performed at Ellis Island. There, in spite of many inconveniences, the greenhorn immigrant was protected for the time being from exploitation. There his money was honestly changed to American money, he was helped to get the right railroad tickets to his proposed destination, and he was cared for in many other little ways that made for his or her safety in the strange new land.

It will be harder to watch out for such immigrants under the new plan as they enter the country at many different ports. Yet it undoubtedly can be done, and will be as experience, humanity and good sense show the way.

A scientist uses rats to prove that pie is real food, and that apple pie is best. And of course the rats demanded cheese with their apple pie.

A BRIGHTER FUNERAL

To those who take the sting from death, add gratefully the name of Mrs. Margaret T. Rose, of Little Rock, Ark.

Dying, Mrs. Rose left these notable instructions:

That her funeral should not be gloomy;

That the singers should "sing in their natural voices";

That half the pews at the funeral services should be reserved for negroes, because "they have done much for me, and kept me from drudgery all my life, and I have never received an act of unkindness from one of them";

That her children should not "mope and stay at home" after she was gone, but should "go out and brighten the world."

Of all these excellent things, perhaps the one that will stick longest in the mind is the injunction that those singers should "sing in their natural voices."

PROFITABLE AUTOMOBILES

There are said to be now 17,500,000 autos in operation in the United States. This is too many, as far as roads are concerned, as anyone can see for himself except in specially favored localities. Few highway systems are able to stand the traffic, and few cities have adequate streets and paving. Otherwise the number is neither particularly impressive nor dismaying. A nation of about 115,000,000 people, with more coming every minute, could use several million additional cars without embarrassment.

These automobiles are said to be costing the nation $8,000,000,000 a year. This is a lot of money. Yet it is nothing to be dismayed about in so wealthy a nation. In fact, the automobile is adding to the national wealth rather than detracting from it.

Cars wear out fast, but there are ample compensations. A very considerable part of the population gets a good living by making automobiles and parts and selling them. And these billions of dollars' worth of cars a year are adding more than their cost to general business profits and real estate values.

Must Fight for Highway Aid

San Bernardino Sun

There now is apparently no doubt but that powerful eastern states propose to move against federal highway appropriations. The cry to halt the invasion by the government of the realm of state's rights will be used to cloak the real purpose of the campaign. The rich eastern states have decided they are contributing more tax money than they receive in appropriations from the federal government. The movement is therefore against any federal expenditures that can be forced upon the states.

Unfortunately for the west President Coolidge may sympathize with the attitude of the east. If the west, which is greatly concerned in federal aid for highways, raises its voice loud enough in protest it may avoid a dangerous struggle that is apparently arranged for the next session of congress.

Pointing to the vast holdings of public lands through which highways must be built in the west, Harvey M. Toy, chairman of the California Highway Commission, indicates one of the reasons why the government must continue to give highway aid:

> The west is not concerned with academic discussions of state's rights indulged in by eastern politicians; it will continue to demand federal aid in the construction of highways as an income to which it is entitled. These funds are asked of the federal government because it owns millions upon millions of acres in western states—mineral lands, national forests, Indian lands, national parks—which are not taxable, from which no revenue comes to the states, but across which they are expected to construct splendid highways for the accommodation and pleasure of eastern tourists, coming westward in ever increasing numbers.

But there is a broader and greater reason why the federal government should contribute to the construction of national highways. It is entirely aside from the issue as to who owns the lands through which the roads pass. The nation's interests require a system of highways traversing the country. Millions of people now have the means of traveling. The east needs a better insight into the west and the west should have a more full understanding of both the east and the south. In no better way could the nation really learn of and understand itself than through the mixing of the people of one section with those of another. Highways will accomplish this process of education. Better than merely federal aid on state highway projects, there should be a national program, designed to hurry the completion of a federal system of roads.

Billion Dollars Lost in Swindles

Pasadena Star-News

The American people are being swindled out of a grand—or gruesome—total of $1,000,000,000 this year, as they were last year! There is no diminution, seemingly, in the volume of frauds. Despite warnings repeatedly given, the people, in great numbers, yield to the impulse to make great gains from fraudulent oil stocks, securities of other kinds, and various and sundry get-rich-quick schemes. The Better Business Bureau of New York, which has been and is doing a vast deal to educate the people out of their gullibility, reports that some progress has been made, and yet that the sum total of losses from frauds is huge. There has been legislating in New York and other states to protect the people against swindles of one kind or another. And through chambers of commerce, advertising clubs, newspapers and other organizations and instrumentalities co-operating as "better business bureaus," the operations of swindlers gradually are being curtailed. But it seems almost impossible wholly to eradicate glaring frauds.

Intelligence and caution among the people would accomplish more than all else. But there is so much credulity; so much of the gambling spirit and the thirst for quick riches, that many persons at all times are ready to take a chance on any smoothly-exploited scheme to acquire riches, no matter how preposterous it may be. And there are loopholes whereby swindlers too often escape legal penalties for perpetrating these outrageous frauds.

Amendment No. 1 Again

Riverside Enterprise

It is surprising to see the number of aspiring politicians and others who are coming around to the opinion that the present system of taxation in California has defects. In fact, there is no system in the world that has not. So far as we know, Controller Ray Riley has always been opposed to the system that has come out of the famous Amendment Number 1. On the other hand a lot of the people who want high public office and can see an opportunity to cry for lower taxes, have changed their old slogans from, "Let the corporations pay the taxes," to the other one, "Change the present system because the consumers have to pay the tax any way."

In speaking of taxation in California, the biggest trouble comes from the impossibility of equalizing the two different forms of taxation imposed, one based on gross earnings of the business of the corporations and the other upon the physical valuation of real estate and improvements. The state receives its revenues from the former system and the local governments from the latter. If local business concerns all paid a tax on the basis of a percentage of their gross earnings, as do the corporations, they would pay a lot more than they do. On the other hand, it is difficult to state whether corporations would pay as much as they do now if taxed for state purposes on the basis of tangible property assessments. Quite probably, they would pay much less, owing to the many forms of value, such as franchises, etc., that they enjoy that are not reached by a property tax.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

WATER IS GOOD FOR ALL

How much water should a person drink daily? The amount needed varies. It is safe, however, to say that every adult person should drink three quarts a day.

Many do not drink this amount. Some take a glass before breakfast, a glass at noon and a glass at the evening meal.

The body loses about two pints daily through the skin in the form of perspiration, and from two to three pints through the kidneys.

Salty foods call for water. If very little salt is used, and if meat is not used, the kidneys and other excretory organs have much less work to do than when meat is eaten freely.

Also, under these conditions, the amount of water required for the elimination of excretory wastes and other poisonous matters is greatly lessened.

Hard water should be softened for drinking purposes. This can be done with lime or salt.

Physicians believe that hard water is a likely source from which the body acquires those lime salts of oxalic and uric acids, which prove so troublesome to many persons.

The End of a Perfect Two Weeks

They're Americans All

Collier's Weekly.

If you have observed your countrymen very carefully as you jogged about this summer, you have perhaps noticed that all the local color hasn't been painted out yet in spite of the fact that whether it's Main or California, everyone wears about the same kind of clothes, goes to the same movies, reads the same magazines, listens to the same broadcasters over the radio and rides in the same brands of automobiles.

And yet in the south country of Delaware, or the hill regions of Tennessee, or the foothills of the Sierras you still find people who talk and think a little differently from their neighbors over the line and are rightly proud of it. You'll find bronzed fishermen putting out into Vineyard Sound, slow-spoken hill farmers in Vermont, fruit ranchers in the Coachella, whose lives have been deeply stamped by their surroundings, and who wouldn't live anywhere else for a million dollars.

They're Americans all, but they love best the little corner of mountains, plain or seacoast where they dwell. They are different. And this is altogether as it should be, for it is out of the love of one little spot of ground, the devotion to one neighborhood, that most of what is good in the thing we call patriotism arises.

Worth While Verse

APRIL MAGIC

April is a sorcerer;
Mystic arts are known to her;
Spells she weaves with slender hands
Over sleeping meadow lands.
Sun and cloud and clap of thunder,
These she takes to work her wonder;
These she breathes upon and uses;
All sweet essences infuses;
Brews them through a dewy night,
And when it again is light,
Oh, the splendor of the sight!
Prairie acres pied with flowers,
White of bloom in orchard bowers,
Waters bright as looking-glasses,
Green-speared armies in the grasses,
Violets sweetening woodland spaces,
Hilltops fringed with elm bud laces,
Redbuds burning up with beauty,
Daisies pleased with humbler duty,
Pale primroses light as air,
Dandelions everywhere;
It is as if all the earth,
Chrysalis-like, came to birth
Here beneath the limpid sky
Beauteous as a butterfly.
April is the sorcerer
Makes these lovely pinions stir;
Mystic arts are known to her,
And her incantations bring
All sweet genii of the spring.

QUESTIONS

Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM

Think of the questions a little tot asks. Giving the answers is one in simplest way. Try and remember, when you were a kid, questioning's of dad's tasks. Sometimes you wonder how little minds work. Sometimes you wish, for a moment, they'd shirk.

Daily things happen when kids are around. Shortly, the why of it all must be found. Looking quite puzzled, a wondering lad, seeks for the answer by turning to dad.

"Tell me, now, pop, why do cows always moo?" What can you say when they ask it of you? "Why does the wee busy bee always buzz?" All you can answer is, "Oh, just because."

Still, after all, as the little ones grow, questions just add to the things that they know. Quizzing brings out what is right and what's wrong. Dad's job is merely to help tots along.

Take all the questions that come day by day—try to explain them one of the things that YOU did.

State Highway Tree Program

Riverside Enterprise

A suggestion comes to The Enterprise that is worthy of publication in its tentative form with suggestions that any persons interested with ideas on the subject might begin to formulate them for future beautification plans of California roads. It is suggested that there should be organized a state office under the highway, or other department of the state, to have complete charge of general and uniform highway tree planting with a state tree warden for Southern California and another for Northern California.

Tree planting and tree care along the public highways has been extremely haphazard in the past. One county will do one thing and another something else. There are periods of activity in which trees are planted, followed by reactionary times when they are removed or allowed to die. One district uses pepper trees, another carobs and another eucalyptus, without any particular regard as to whether the proper selection of varieties is made or not.

The suggestion is that the state take over tree planting along all of the state highways, that a careful study be made as to the proper trees to plant in the different localities and a permanent policy of care and upkeep established with constant supervision and renewals of destroyed or dying trees. It should be made a misdemeanor to destroy any trees on the public highways without a permit from a proper official or board.

The plan might include a co-operative organization between state and counties, each bearing a portion of the cost but with a single supervisorial authority in charge.

A superficial consideration of such a plan as this indicates that it could be administered without heavy expense in addition to that already included in the building and maintenance of the roads. The plantings along new roads could be made at the time the state does the paving, the same crews doing the work. The supervision and care of the trees could be carried on by the same crews that now care for and repair the highways.

California is behind the times in beautification of its drives, with the exception of streets in the municipalities and in the instances where individual owners have planted and cared for the trees privately. Those who have lived near Magnolia avenue or have driven over that magnificent tree lined boulevard, can realize what tree planting can do.

Tourists come to California to drive over its paved boulevards. They are disappointed in what they find in much of the open country between cities in the lack of highway plantings. A program such as has been suggested here could be capitalized to the limit in popularizing California roads throughout the entire state.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 8—PLACE WHERE CUCKOO CLOCKS ARE MADE

"Sit down," said the friendly cuckoo on the cuckoo clock, when he had finished calling the hour.

"Yes, do sit down," begged the little men of the mountain who, like the cuckoo, were carved out of wood and put on the clock for ornaments.

The three of them had suddenly come to life in the dim old living room, where the Twins and the clock fairy had come to visit—or to put the Swiss clock in order, I should say. They were not really visiting at all.

Upstairs deaf old Mister Kubler slept soundly on, not even dreaming of what was going on beneath him.

"Will you tell us a story if we stay?" asked Nancy. "We can't stop very long as we have a lot of work to do tonight. Nick and I are helping Tick Tock to put all the old clocks in order before morning."

"It won't take me long," said the little cuckoo.

"No, it won't take him long," echoed the little wooden mountain men stiffly.

So Tick Tock and the Twins sat down on a sofa and the little cuckoo began:

"Cuckoo clocks are made in a far country across the sea called Switzerland. It is not as far as Germany, but farther than France and right near Italy. So the people in Switzerland speak either French or German or Italian. There is no Swiss language. That is one queer thing about it.

"Another queer thing about it is that it is higher than almost any other country in that part of the world. It is nearly all mountains, and even the flat places were there are farms and gardens are only high places among the mountains, or what they call table lands. It is sometimes called the roof of Europe, Switzerland is, just on that account.

"There are other odd things about Switzerland," said the cuckoo.

"Yes, many odd things," said the little wooden mountain men stiffly.

"One is that Switzerland seldom has any wars and needs a very small army.

"Another is that it has no place where the sea touches, so it needs no navy, that is no ships.

"But it is a beautiful place, about the most beautiful in the world," went on the cuckoo. "It has many wonderful lakes with castles and lovely cities built around them.

"And its mountains are so high and so rugged that they look like giant forts reaching to the clouds. Indeed they go up much higher than the clouds, and if you were standing on top of one of these mountains, the clouds would be below you and you would have to look down, instead of up, to see them."

"My goodness!" said Nick. "It must be some place."

"It is," said the cuckoo proudly.

"It is indeed!" said the little wooden men importantly. "But that is not all. There is more to come."
